SOVIETS BACK 'STOP NAZI' MOVE; HUNGARIAN TROOPS IN SLOVAKIA

STOP HITLER MOVE GROWS AS NATIONS JOIN HANDS

CHAMBERLAIN (Great Britain)

Soviet Russia today joined the "Stop Hitler" coalition of nations, headed by Great Britain and France, in an effort to prevent German expansions in central and northeastern Europe. These three nations have already agreed to the plan and other powers in the coalition would be Poland, Rumania, Bulgaria, Turkey, Yugoslavia and Greece. Poland was being urged to join the movement today. Poland and the other smaller nations are hesitating on uniting in the accord. Other steps were being taken in Europe to combat any future threats. Premier Edouard Daladier of France, acting under emergency powers granted him, has expanded the French army and put war industries workers on a 64-hour week. Marshal Hermann Goering of Germany was expected to return to Italy and there to confer with Premier Benito Mussolini, Chancellor Adolf Hitler's ally and partner in the Rome-Berlin axis.

CONFIRMATION LACKING

Definite Reason for March of Troops Held Secret; Cross Frontier Lines.

(By Associated Press)

BUDAPEST — Hungarian troops moved into Slovakia today at several points along the Slovakia - Carpatho - Ukraine frontier, said reliable reports from that region, and diplomatic quarters heard Hungary was occupying Slovakia on Germany's invitation.

The reports supported belief among foreign diplomats that Adolf Hitler, protector of Slovakia since last week's absorption of Czechoslovakia, had adopted a policy of encouraging Hungarian expansion to build up a powerful ally in central Europe.

Hear of Rapid Advance.

Hungarian troops had been in Carpatho-Ukraine since their occupation last week of that easternmost section of Czechoslovakia.

Some diplomats and deputies said they understood Hungarian troops already had crossed the frontier and were advancing up the valley.

In government quarters confirmation of these reports could not be obtained.

But some diplomats saw partial confirmation in the fact that last night the government issued strict orders to Hungarian newspapers and new agencies to publish nothing concerning military operations.

In some diplomatic circles there was a belief that Reichsfuehrer Hitler, under whose protection Slovakia placed herself last week, had adopted a policy favoring reconstruction of the realm of St. Stephen—the pre-war kingdom of Hungary, of which Slovakia was a part.

Forecast Actions.

These sources said the first step in such a direction was Hungary's recovery of Carpatho-Ukraine, easternmost section of vanished Czechoslovakia which Hungary occupied when Hitler absorbed the rest of that republic.

A second step would be for Hungary to take over Slovakia, which the Hapsburg kings of Hungary (who also were emperors of Austria) administered before the World war break up of the Hapsburg realm.

Today In Europe

(By United Press)

BRATISLAVA — Hungarian troops, reportedly with approval of Germany, invaded Slovakia in an apparent move to seize a 15-mile wide strip of territory, but were hurled back in fierce fighting with Slovak soldiers, militia and bombing planes.

LONDON — Britain and France were reported to have exchanged mutual written agreements for defense of Holland, Belgium and Switzerland. Soviet embassy announces Moscow is willing to join four-power declaration against Nazi aggression.

BUCHAREST—Rumania signs trade treaty with Germany but retains economic independence.

MEMEL—Hitler arrives with flower of German fleet to claim Memel in triumph.

BERLIN — Germany and Lithuania sign neutrality treaty.

ROME — King Victor, in speech opening new fascist corporative chamber, warns that Italy's land, sea and air armaments must be kept at high level.

PARIS—France urges Rumania and Hungary to withdraw troops from their mutual frontiers.

BULLETIN

LONDON —(U.P.)— Great Britain is "resolved by all means" to oppose destruction of the independence of European states under threats of armed force, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain declared today in the House of Commons.

(By United Press)

LONDON — Soviet Russia agreed to a four-power declaration aimed against Nazi aggression today as Great Britain and France were reported to have exchanged written assurances of mutual support against a German attack in western Europe.

The Soviet embassy said that an affirmative reply had been delivered by Russia to the British proposal for a four-power declaration providing for immediate consultation in event of further German aggression.

Secret Agreement.

The embassy statement coincided with reports that a secret agreement under which Britain promises to support French action in event of a German threat to invade Switzerland had been signed.

Under the agreement France gives similar pledges to British defense of Holland and for British-French protection of Belgium.

Poland—fourth power approached by Britain in the anti-Hitler negotiations—remained the chief obstacle, but it was understood London was ready to go ahead without Warsaw if necessary.

Diplomatic quarters reported that the assurances were exchanged as the result of a 90-minute conference at the house of commons last night at which Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary; Georges Bonnet, French foreign minister, and Andre Charles Corbin, French ambassador to London, were present.

Memoranda Exchanged.

It was asserted that memoranda were exchanged recording a verbal

4 TO 8 YEARS, HINES PENALTY

Tammany Chieftain Sentenced to Prison in N. Y. Numbers Racket Conspiracy.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—James J. Hines, 62, a power in Tammany politics for 26 years, was sentenced today to four to eight years imprisonment, on his conviction of lottery conspiracy charges in connection with the late Dutch Schultz' numbers racket.

Judge Charles C. Nott, jr., suspended sentence of one to two years on the first count in the 13-count indictment, a misdemeanor charging conspiracy.

On each of the first four felony counts, Judge Nott sentenced the Tammany district leader to not less than one year nor more than two years, the sentences to run consecutively.

On the last eight felony counts, Hines received one to two years to run concurrently with the previous felony count sentences.

LAW CATCHES UP

Suspect In $250,000 For Fraud Case Sought 2 Years.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Federal authorities announced today the arrest in Chicago of a man sought here for two years in connection with the operation of a four-state alcohol ring charged with defrauding the government of more than $250,000 in taxes.

Attaches of the U. S. district attorney's office identified him as Matt Manzo, formerly of Hammond, Ind., indicted here with 14 others in October, 1936.

CHARDON—(U.P.)—Ohio's maple sugar capital was in holiday attire today as it opened the annual four-day Geauga county maple festival.

A maple sirup yield this year was somewhat smaller than in other years because of a mild winter but old-timers said the quality was just as good.

PLEAS STUDIED

High Court Ponders New Trial Appeals of Dingledines.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Attorneys for Henry and Harry Dingledine and Harry Chapman, sentenced to die for slaying two Springfield peace officers Sept. 3, 1937, in a gun battle following a robbery, asked the Ohio supreme court today to review their pleas for a new trial.

The court, which previously had granted the bandit trio indefinite stays of execution, took the case under advisement.

HUNT GUNMAN

Columbus Police Search While Victim Fights for Life.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Police combed the city today for a "mad" colored gunman while Robert L. Hall, 48-year-old watchman fought for his life in a hospital following a street car robbery and shooting.

Hall's condition was described by hospital authorities as "just fair." The bullet penetrated the victim's abdomen. An operation was to be performed today to remove it..

Only a handful of passengers were on the car last night when, police said, the man started to board it. The bandit, about 35 years old, grabbed the money changer from Hall's hand and, without uttering a word, fired point blank at the motorman.

As the wounded man slumped in a seat, the bandit fled on foot with approximately $4 in change. There was no apparent reason for the shooting, witnesses said, because Hall offered no resistance.

Father of Willard Child-Bride Gets 4-Month Workhouse Term

(By Staff Correspondent)

NORWALK — Albert Woodard, father of a 14-year-old Willard child-bride, pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor in Huron county probate court here this morning and was sentenced to four months in the Toledo workhouse.

His wife, who has served time on the same charge in connection with another daughter, will appear before Judge Luther Van Horn tomorrow morning to answer a delinquency charge.

The girl, Bertha Irene Woodard Moraland, fifth grade pupil, has been committed to an institution for the feeble minded at Columbus, court attaches said today, while charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, filed against Emerald Moraland, 22, the husband of the girl, were dismissed and he was placed on probation. He is said to have known the girl only a week before the marriage.

The couple, accompanied by the girl's parents, went to Sandusky last Saturday where the parents signed the marriage application and said the girl was 16 and her home was in Sandusky. The five-day clause, which specifies a period of five days must elapse between the application and issuance of the license, was waived at the request of the parents.

The girl was taken in charge Tuesday at the home of her parents in Willard, where she and Moraland were staying, when a school truant officer went to investigate her absence from school.

RESUME PAVING

Work on the Windsor cut-off paving on route 42, suspended three months ago because of cold weather, will be resumed about April 1 and the project will be completed about June 1, highway officials announced today.

W. H. Ringwald and Sons, Chillicothe, contractor on the project, had completed an agreement today with Richland county commissioners for the use of approximately a mile of county and township roads for a detour around the project.

Murray D. Shaffer, division highway engineer, said work on the unpaved section will be resumed as soon as the detour is put in shape to handle the heavy traffic. The detour wil be over township road No. 273 and county route No. 92 to the east of the main highway.

Only 3,800 feet of the cut-off, which is 3.59 miles long, remains to be paved.

PRESIDENT AT 36

Youthful Executive Named by National Bank at Columbus.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Thirty-six-year-old Leland A. Stoner, who started in as a bank messenger, was elected president of the Ohio National bank today, succeeding the late Avery Clinger. Stoner, born in Pulaski, Williams county, has been executive vice president and cashier of the bank.

DESTROYS HOTEL

Blaze Levels Building, One Dies, Score Forced To Flee.

SOMERSET, Pa. — (U.P.) — One man was burned to death, a fireman was injured and a score of persons barely escaped with their lives when fire today destroyed the Vannear hotel annex, a four-story, brick-wooden structure situated in the heart of the business district.

Walter Shaffer, 27, an employe of the Center cafe, where the fire originated, still was missing today. It was believed he had perished.

END LONG FIGHT ON REVAMP BILL

New Deal Adds Reorganization Measure to Victories; Senate Approves 63 to 23.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — After a seesaw two-year battle, the Roosevelt administration added a broad government reorganiaztion program today to its list of congressional victories.

Only adjustment of minor differences in the house and senate measures will be required before the legislation can go to the White House.

The president, nevertheless, did not get as complete authority for reshuffling federal agencies as he originally asked. In order to prevent a repetition of last year's house defeat, the bill was stripped of nearly every controversial feature.

As provided by the senate yesterday 63 to 23, the legislation provided:

1. The president can reorganize, consolidate or abolish most administrative agencies by executive order. The orders would become effective after 60 days unless both house and senate voted disapproval.

2. Debate on proposals to disapprove presidential orders would be limited to 20 hours in each chamber.

3. If he ordered abolition of any agency, the president would have to arrange for the transfer of all its functions to some other agency.

4. The president can appoint six administrative assistants at salaries not to exceed $10,000 a year.

The senate passed the bill after administration forces succeeded in getting the chamber to reverse itself and throw out an amendment by Senator Wheeler (D-Mont), which would have required specific congressional approval of presidential reorganization orders.

TAFT FAVORS BILL

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R-O.), was one of the two Republican senators who voted for the government reorganization bill yesterday when the senate passed it 63 to 23. The other who voted in the affirmative was Sen. Clyde Reed, Kansas.

DIVORCE DENIED

Ashland Judge, Foe of Hasty Marital Splits, Rules.

ASHLAND—Judge H. E Culbertson of the Ashland common pleas court, who nearly a month ago opened a one-man campaign against the promiscuous filing of divorce petitions in Ashland county, today refused his first divorce since opening his campaign.

Judge Culbertson refused a divirce in the case of Thomas R. Mann against Edna Mann, because "the evidence submitted was insufficient and very conflicting." Mann in his petition charged gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty, and stated that his wife left him for long periods and refused to cook his meals.

In a cross petition filed by Mrs. Mann, she charged extreme cruelty.

MEMEL'S HEILS GREET HITLER

Fuehrer Tells Big Welcoming Throng Nazis End 'Unique Process of Reparation.'

(By Associated Press)

MEMEL—Adolf Hitler formally welcomed Memel territory into the expanding German reich today after reeciving a tremendous welcome.

A few minutes after the fuehrer landed at his new Baltic port he told Memellanders from a theater balcony:

"In the name of the entire German people I greet you and accept you into the great German reich. . . .

"Even if our course does not please another world, for this new Germany some eighty millions stand sponsor."

'Great Nation Behind You.'

"You are a frontier land and will best appreciate having a great nation behind you.

"A new community has sprung from need and adversity.

"That no other power shall ever subjugate us—for this we shall look out.

"So I greet you today as old volksgenossen — members of the German community—and as the youngest citizens.

"And just as in this minute throughout the whole German

ORDERS GERMAN BRAND ON GOODS

U. S. Edict For Bohemian, Moravian Products Revealed.

PRAGUE — (AP) — Newspapers today notified manufacturers that products for export to the United States must be marked "Made in Germany" because of establishment of a German protectorate over the Bohemian and Moravian regions of Czechoslovakia.

The newspaper notices said this was a new regulation made by the United States but offered no further explanation.

CITED BY JURY

Ex-WPA Timekeeper Indicted in Payroll Padding Here.

Forrest L. Thompson, 26½ East First street, former timekeeper on a Richland county WPA road project, was indicted by the federal grand jury in Cleveland today in connection with a charge of payroll padding.

The indictment accuses Thompson of having received $750 in 18 months in "kick back" fees, of padding payrolls, of adding time the men did not work certifying it to officials and then collecting 50 per cent of the extra pay. Payrolls for November and December of last year yere specified in the indictment.

Thompson was arrested here Dec. 28 by government agents and taken to Canton where he pleaded guilty to a charge of falsifying WPA reports before U. S. Commissioner Charles Ball. Unable to post $1,500 bond he was taken to Cleveland where he has been held in jail.

$30,000 Expansion Program Planned By Art Rattan Works

A $30,000 plant expansion program that will include a two-story addition to the present building and the installation of new production equipment, was announced today by R. A. Shelton, vice president of the Art Rattan Works, Inc., Park avenue east.

A steady increasing volume of business with unfilled orders the largest in the history of the company, has made the expansion program necessary, Shelton said.

The addition of 5,600 feet of floor space will make the Mansfield plant the largest of the company's factories. The firm operates other plants at Topton, Pa., and Oakland, Calif.

Expected to be completed in 60 days, the new building will provide facilities for additional employment, Shelton said. The firm now employs 125 persons in the manufacture of transportation seating.

The company is now working two full eight-hour shifts daily, with the day shift schedule to be increased on completion of the addition.

You'd Better Behave Now, You Bad Dogs — 'Law's' On Warpath

City officials spoke out today against "homeless hounds" with Police Chief Meade K. Bates declaring war on all dogs destroying property.

The chief ordered the "war" following a conference with Mayor Claude M. Hunter who said that he had been "swamped" in the past two days with complaints about dogs running at large and destroying property.

"It's an outrage that this nuisance has been allowed to exist," he told the chief as he ordered strict enforcement of the city's 20-year-old nuisance ordinance that empowers police to kill any dog declared a nuisance or to arrest the owner.

Hunter pointed out that it was not only the unlicensed animals that were running in packs and causing damage, but that most of the complaints had come from licensed dogs which were allowed free run.

Bates said that a general order would be issued to the police department today to "bring in" the owners of such dogs whether licensed or unlicensed. Meanwhile he said he intended to consult William Miller, county dog warden for assistance in "cleaning up the situation."

ROBBER JAILED

Captured After Using Toy Pistol In Bank Holdup.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va.—(U.P.)—A man identiifed by police as Leland Rebert, 49, a Mississippi ex-convict, was captured today after he had used a toy "G-Man" pistol to hold up the First National bank here.

Rebert, who took $1,021 from the bank, was captured in a blind alley by Patrolman Charles G. Farmer after a short chase. A bank teller directed the patrolman in the pursuit.

GEAR AIRPLANE FACTORIES FOR ARMS PROGRAM

U. S. Plants Prepare for Rush Orders From Government in Rearmament Race.

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES — Rearmament in the air, proposed by the administration and approved by congress, means warplanes, and humming factories of Los Angeles county already are being geared to the job of creating part of the new flock.

Fresh crops of military pilots, schooled in the art of aerial defense against the possibility of invasion from abroad, will have at their disposal training ships to try their wings and fast combat machines for tactical exercises.

From meager beginnings, the aviation industry of southern California, producing nearly half the nation's planes, commercial and military, has contributed much in fresh speeds and designs to the armed services.

400 Miles An Hour

One of the fastest of the current experimental models, a Lockheed twin-engine fighter, recently achieved bursts of speed up to 400 miles an hour on a transcontinental flight.

Engineers are talking confidently of airplanes with top speeds of around 500 miles an hour.

One manufacturer is building what probably will be the world's biggest landplane, capable of flying to Europe and back without refuelling, for the army air corps.

In all, some 20 aircraft factories plus half a dozen engine plants, probably will be called upon to supply products in the government's drive for an implemented air defense.

Counting the 30-odd factories which produce all types of aircraft and the dozen which manufacture engines, only 36,000 to 38,000 men are employed regularly by the American aeronautical industry.

That compares with more than 200,000 employes which, last year, were reported on the payrolls of German plants.

The Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce estimates that more than 70,000 persons will be working on American aircraft and engines when production of warplanes for our armed services and for foreign orders—notably from France and Great Britain—is fully under way.

Cost $25,000 Each

Warplane manufacture today is in sharp contrast to the simplicity of production during the World war years. Planes are far more complicated and expensive. Single-seater pursuit planes frequently cost $25,000 each.

The warplane business is a bonanza for the manufacturers. The Lockheed Aircraft Co., has piled up about $34,500,000 in unfilled orders.

Unfilled orders of some $30,000,000 at Douglas include the recently disclosed $11,000,000 commitment from the French government.

The capacity productivity of the nation's military aircraft plants has been set by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce at 5,500 planes a year and by Major Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the air corps, at 6,000 planes, with some expansion of facilities.

LARGER THE CITY, BIGGER THE HICKS, PROFESSOR DECLARES

(By United Press)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Native New Yorkers are the nation's real hicks, according to Prof. Mark Jefferson of Ypsilanti (Michigan) State Teachers college.

Dr. Jefferson told an American Geographers association meeting here that his opinion was based on a study of the world's greatest cities.

The native-born inhabitant of a nation's metropolis tends to be "narrow and limited," he said.

"He thinks he created his city's character, which in many cases he does not even share. He is the nation's true provincial in failing to recognize the contribution of the local regions of the land."

Dr. Jefferson's survey of the largest cities of the 40 most important countries of the world, particularly as city size is related to each country's national character, revealed a "law" of growth of the largest city of any country —a type he calls "primate."

The so-called law is that "a country's leading city always is disproportionately large and exceptionally expressive of national capacity and feeling," he said.

"Once a city is larger than any other in its country, this mere fact gives it an impetus to grow that cannot affect any other city, and it draws away from all of them in character as well as size," he said.

Most inhabitants of the "primate cities" were born in the provinces, were attracted by the great market for superior skills and intelligence, and brought with them a local contribution to the composition of the places, he said.

STRAW THAT BROKE THE CAMEL'S BACK

World's Tonic Booster Says "So Stiff and Sore—When She Bent Over Seemed As If My Back Would Break"

There's an old story that tells about putting straw on the camel's back. As more straws were added, one at a time, the camel's back sagged more and more, then one more straw and it broke. Can't you picture a person bent over from stiffness and soreness, bending lower and lower as each new ache and stiffness piles on, and imagine them saying, one more ache and my back will break. The fable was brought to mind by the manner in which Mrs. Geraldine Lipps, of 509 S. 10th street, Coshocton, Ohio told of her condition:

"I had such aches and pains in my back and it was so stiff and sore that I could bend over only with such difficulty that I often thought, if I have to bend over one more my back will break. Not only my back was painful but my arm and leg joints were sore and it hurt badly to bend them. I had a bad constipation problem and this spread to poor elimination in my kidneys. My nights were broken up and this brought about a nervous, restless feeling.

"Food would turn sour in my stomach and cause gas and bloating and this in turn made my breath short and a palpitating heart condition started me wondering about heart trouble and high blood pressure.

"But my worst worries were those awful pains that never seemed to let up. I started taking World's Tonic about three weeks ago. The first result was a blissful comfortable feeling of relief from constipation, then my kidneys were better. I'm keeping right on with World's Tonic and all the aching painful conditions it caused are gradually leaving. My back feels much better and I feel a general improvement all over from pains, aches and other things which that terrible constipation brought on."

World's Tonic contains valuable alkalines for neutralizing acids (acid indigestion) and is not an old-fashioned nasty tasting medicine.

The champions in this instance will be the Yuncker Sports, City league titleholders of Mansfield, and Earl's Dairys of Marion, Industrial league kings of that city.

They collide in the 9:30 p. m. tussle on the initial program, which includes two other contests.

The opening game of the evening will send the Blue Goose Sohioans of the Friendly House Senior league against the Ashland Merchants at 7:30 o'clock. The Elks Lodge team of the City loop engages Winter's Gulf Oils of Galion in the middle tiff.

The Westinghouse Electrics, Marion Snappy Service, Ashland Bobcats and the Johns Park outfit will not see action in the elimination until next week when play is resumed at the Y.

Eligibility of personnel of teams entered in the tournament follow.

CELTICS SQUARE RIVALRY

CLEVELAND —(INS)— The basketball rivalry between the original Celtics and the Waterloo Wonders stood all even today after the Celtics took a bruising game in Cleveland public auditorium, 46 to 39. Nat Hickey, the veteran Irishman, netted 24 points to finish his 24th season of pro basketball.

Winner to Meet First Lutheran Club for League Cage Honors Later.

THE Park Avenue Baptist and First M. E. cage quintets will meet in the finals to determine the champion of the second round of the Class A. Church league race at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night.

The winner in this game will meet the First Lutherans, first round champions, in the titular playoff later.

Win Playoff Openers.

First M. E. and Baptist quintets earned the right to meet in the second round finals by turning in victories to break the four-way tie for the championship at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Both games were nip-and-tuck affairs, with the Methodists coming through the victors in the most spectacular tussle in the second overtime period. The final score was 31 to 29, with Mayflower Congregational the loser. The Baptists outpointed the Lutherans, 23 to 19, in the other setto.

Mayflower leaped into a 13 to 4 lead in the game with the Methodists, but its advantage was reduced to 13 to 12 at the intermission. The Methodists knotted the count at 18-all just before the end of the third quarter.

The regulation playing time ended with the two teams deadlocked at 29-all.

Neither team scored in the first three-minute period, but Herb Hazlett took care of the situation after one minute of the second overtime by caging a bucket.

Fogle was the leading pointmaker for the Methodists with 12 points. Russell tallied nine and Miles, eight, for the losers.

Lead Entire Way.

The Baptists never trailed as they took the measure of the first half kings, holding a 9 to 4 lead in the first period and 13 to 10 at the half. Rush set the pace for the Baptists with 11 points

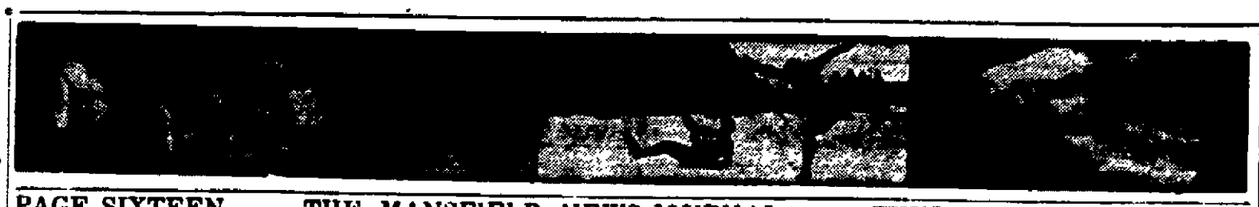
MERCHANTS BACK TEAM

NEW LONDON—The New London Merchants' baseball team will organize Friday evening This team will be sponsored by New London Merchants.



BARONS RESUME PLAYOFF WITH SPRINGFIELD ICERS

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Battling both the Springfield Indians and the odds, the Cleveland Barons tonight will attempt to show the hockey world that they can get beyond the first round of the playoffs—even if they haven't done so for several years.

The Barons dropped a 2 to 0 decision at Springfield Tuesday, and must win tonight to stay in the International-American league running. Should they win, the third and deciding game of the third place playoffs will be played here Saturday. It was learned yesterday that Les Cunningham, high-scoring center, will accompany Phil Hergesheimer, star wing, to the Chicago Blackhawks next season

Former Yankee Joins Indians

Confident He'll Be Effective After Long Layoff.

NEW ORLEANS—(U.P.)—Johnny Broaca, bespectacled former New York Yankee pitcher, became one of the Cleveland Indians' biggest puzzles today.

Broaca joined his new teammates at the club's training camp yesterday and, although he reported several days late, he appeared in good condition.

"I sure hope this boy can come back," Manager Oscar Vitt said. "He can help us. I'm not counting very much on him being my fourth starting pitcher, though that's a possibility. After all, he had an awfully good curve and good speed with the Yankees. A year and a half out of action shouldn't have robbed him of his stuff.

The 27-year-old former Yale student quit the Yankees suddenly in 1937 when they were in first place. It cost him $5,000 in world series money.

"My arm feels strong enough," Broaca said. "I don't see any reason why I shouldn't be effective."

Manager Vitt had a problem in deciding what to do with the veteran outfielder, Earl Averill, who was expected to be in uniform today. Vitt said he wasn't sure whether Averill would be a regular but added that the fact he was a holdout for so long should have no effect on Averill's playing. Shortstop Lyn Lary took his first workout yesterday.

The Indians were to play the New Orleans Pelicans today.

Spring's Here . . . Mehock's Trackmen Prove It

—News-Journal Photos.

This week not only heralded the return of spring, but also the track sport. Coach Harry Mehock took his candidates for the Mansfield high school team to the outdoors this week for the first time this season, and conducted the first trials yesterday at Stadium field.

The top photo shows a group of basketball players which turned its attention to the track following its elimination in the state cage tournament in Columbus last week-end. The athletes getting ready for a jog around the track to loosen up their legs are, left to right: Howard Hershey, Russ Beer, Jack Dugger, Don Rose, Rich Nagle and Jake Lyons.

Senior '440' Prospect Brings Wide Smile to Mehock's Face

SMILIN' HARRY MEHOCK had another good reason to sport a wide smile today.

In yesterday's first intra-squad track competition at Stadium field, Mehock discovered a young prospect whose name may become quite familiar to followers of the Mansfield high school thinclads before the end of the season.

Duda's the Name.

His name is Harold Duda. He's a senior, never competed in competition, but showed the genial Red Streak mentor that he can run.

Mehock tried Duda in the grueling 440-yard dash, and he streaked over the soft cinders in the fairly good time of 56.2 seconds to lead such veteran performers as Dick McMullen and Don Rose to the tape.

Another inexperienced candidate who gave an encouraging performance was Fred Atwater, a colored junior, who won both the broad jump and 120-yard high hurdles events.

Atwater leaped 18 feet, 8 inches to outjump the field, and raced over the high barriers in the good time of 17.5 seconds to edge Jake Lyons, a veteran.

John Vinta, Mehock's pole vaulting star, and Bob Donnan were the other dual winners in the competition to select a personnel for the opening meet of the season with Springfield on the home oval a week from Saturday.

Mehock ordered Linta to call it quits after he reached 12 feet in the pole vault, Howard Hershey and Lyons falling out at 11 feet, six inches. Linta grabbed the 180-yard hurdles in 19.8 seconds, with Nicholas trailing.

Bob Donnan led Sweet and Pearson to the tape in the 880-yard run in 2 minutes, 13 seconds, and finished ahead of Yarman and Dykstra in the mile, clicking off the latter distance in five minutes, two seconds.

Logan Proves Class.

Joe Logan proved the class of the century runners, Rich Nagle outdistanced the field in the discus event, Gaston Buzard was high in the high jump and Russ Beer tossed the shot about 40 feet to show his superiority in this weight event.

Mehock plans to stage the second tryout of the season at the Stadium at 10 a. m. Saturday.

Tom Henrich Supplants Ol' Lou on First Base.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Floundering through the most ragged spring training performance of his major league career, Lou Gehrig is threatened with sudden termination of his tenure as the regular first baseman of the New York Yankees and if the end actually is here for the big but aging slugger, then it may also be approaching for the Yanks as champions of the American league.

New York newspaper headlines today heralded yesterday's innovation in which young Tom Henrich supplanted old Lou in the Yankee lineup in a Florida exhibition game and speculation was renewed as to whether Manager Joe McCarthy also is anticipating the veteran first-sacker's baseball demise after 14 major league seasons. If so, the verdict is in with scarcely a dissenting vote.

St. Louis Club In Spotlight

Hermann Undertakers Take A. B. C. Lanes Tonight.

CLEVELAND — (AP)—The Hermann Undertakers of St. Louis, Mo., claimants to the title of national match game bowling champions, hold forth tonight in the American Bowling Congress tournament.

The quintet, which defeated a Milwaukee team several months ago in a 24-game title match, once scored a 3,797 three-game total in St. Louis league play.

The F. Ziehm company, of Cleveland is in the crow's nest in the ABC classic's team event with a total of 2,924.

William McGeorge, Kent, O., cost accountant, was back at his books today after hitting a perfect 300 count yesterday in the singles—the sixth kegler to accomplish the feat in ABC competition. McGeorge, who thus proved booster bowlers don't always go to a tournament just for the ride, skidded to games of 173 and 166 after his perfect performance.

The tournament's pace-setters withstood yesterday's assaults.

LONG ISLAND LENGTHENS WIN STREAK, WIN TITLE

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Long Island university boasted the last major undefeated basketball team in the land and a clean claim to the mythical national collegiate championship today.

The Clair Bee coached Blackbirds ended their all-triumphant season with a 44-32 victory over Loyola of Chicago in the final of the second annual New York invitation tournament at Madison Square Garden last night. It was their 24th straight victory.

PINEHURST, N. C.—(AP)—Byron Nelson, young Ryder Cup player from Reading, Pa., led by a stroke today as the North and South open golf tournament entered the 36-hole final round. He shot a second round 68 yesterday for a 139 total

Passes Tests

Galento OK'd in Physical Examination Held by Commission for Title Go.

By LAWTON CARVER
(Copyright, 1939.)

NEW YORK—(INS)—Prodded, explored, timed, tested and befuddled by it all, Two-Ton Tarzan Galento has been approved by five examining physicians for his world heavyweight title challenge against Champion Joe Louis and the bloodletting will be staged as scheduled on June 28, a gentleman vitally interested in the million dollar spectacle revealed to the writer today. He said Galento already has been certified in written reports filed with the New York boxing commission, which will withhold formal announcement until tomorrow or later.

"Galento was found to be in good condition and he also is what Commissioner Bill Brown calls 'organically sound,' and you can say the fight is definitely on insofar as this examination is concerned," according to the information which comes supposedly straight from the torture chamber where Galento went under the miscroscope this week.

Visibly Disturbed.

He squirmed there, visibly disturbed as he distrustfully eyed instruments that he was told were a sphygnamonometer, an opthalmoscope and an electro-cardiograph, and he was left virtually speechless for the first time in nearly 30 years, but his suet-padded torso showed no flaws that might have lingered as an aftermath to the siege of pneumonia that floored him and came close to keeping him down for the count last summer

When told that Galento had been approved to serve as a clay pigeon for the champion, Manager Joe Jacobs revealed that it wasn't a surprise to him, inasmuch as he had the challenger thoroughly tested himself.

"Tony has been passed by a half dozen doctors in the different places he has fought since he had pneumonia and Dr. Joe Higi, a friend of his who was with him when he was sick, has watched him like a baby," Jacobs said. "If Tony wasn't right he wouldn't be fighting."

Eventual announcement that Galento has been approved will be followed by an automatic granting of a license to him and designation by the commission of a guard to stay at his training camp and see to it that he gets in shape for a fight, just in case there should be a fight after the first round. Anyhow, that's how the script reads now.

That Strange Man, Mr. Van Mungo, May Respond to Dollar Diplomacy

By DILLON GRAHAM

CLEARWATER, Fla.—(AP)—Mr Van Lingle Mungo is a very strange man. He is a man of moods. On occasions, too frequent occasions, he is a very sullen gent. Mungo is as temperamental as an opera songbird.

When the spirit moves him he is a very hostile guy. He has been known to break up hotel furniture and swing at teammates, or whomever might be handy. At times he is not such fine company for little Willie, aged 9.

But Mr. Mungo, the squire of Pageland, S. C., has one thing in common with many of us. Like Joe Doaks of Hot Coffee, Ark., or his cousin, Bill, of Rodeo, Calif., Mungo likes to reach around to his hip pocket and feel a wallet bulging with greenbacks

That desire to collect bank notes may make a pitcher out of Mr. Mungo. At least, that is the fondest wish of Larry S. (for Scat) MacPhail, the freckled-faced major domo of the Brooklyn club.

A Major Operation.

Mr MacPhail has been around long enough to know that country boys adore spending money they can flash at the general crossroads store So what does he do but amputate two-thirds of Mungo's salary check at one swipe. Not wanting to be too technical about it I nevertheless would venture the opinion that the cutting of an annual wage from $15,000 to $5,000 is a major operation in any league At least on par with an appendectomy.

MUNGO . . . well paid in '38.

Mungo has been a Brooklyn pitcher since 1932. You've probably heard it said that he slings the fastest ball in the National league. And that he's got plenty of stuff. And that maybe he should be the best pitcher in the loop.

But he's never won 20 games and that's the test for a crack hurler. In fact, for the last three years he's lost more games than he's won. Last season Mr Mungo won the astonishing total of four games. Fifteen grand is a lot of dough to pay for four victories.

Other methods to make Mungo the pitcher he apparently can be having failed, Mr MacPhail decided to pitch to his weakness. So he whittled his pay check down to a mere pittance And the only way Mungo can get back in the big money circle is by going out and chucking up some 20 victories.

'Everything I've Got'.

"I'm going to show them some real pitching this year," Mungo says 'I'm going to give 'em everything I've got, and that's plenty."

Mungo reported to the Dodgers' camp in crack shape. He's about 10 pounds lighter than a year ago. He says his arm feels strong again. Last year he complained so much about it that the Dodgers packed him off to Pageland long before the season was finished

Chances are the Brooklyn pitching will be better all around. MacPhail roped in some minor-league beauties, such as Whitlow Wyatt, who won 23 games and lost 7 for Milwaukee Bill Crouch and Russ Evans, who won 21 games in the Southern association, Jim Winford who copped 17 for Houston and Hugh Casey who won 13 for Memphis Ira Hutchinson who came from the Bees, should be a help and Luke Sewell, the veteran catcher obtained from the Chicago White Sox, should be a great aid to the young tossers.

RANDOM SHOTS

Clair Bee

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

EX-MANSFIELDER CLAIR BEE, who has been turning out those crack bucket machines at Long Island, will shortly receive a flattering offer from a Pacific Coast school. . . . Jack Lyons, clever Tyger guard, was named on the all-opponent team recently selected by the Sandusky Blue Streaks. Forward Tommy Scott was honored on the second selection . . . Ashland college is attempting to schedule Washington & Jefferson, Pete Henry's school, for a court struggle next winter. . . .

A recheck of standings in the recent women's Inter-City bowling tournament in Tiffin reveals that Sophia Meder and Thelma Linster, doubles partners, were the only Mansfielders to collect a title. The former finished third in the singles and fourth in the all-events, however. Next year's tournament will go to Lima, not Mansfield, which also placed a bid. Mary McMullen was named secretary of the women's association, with Mrs. Meder a member of the executive board. . . . Chappie Geygan has not inked his contract, but he is almost certain to return as pilot of the Fremont Green Sox this year . . . And Mr C. F Steinle, one of the contractors on the junior high school building projects in the city, is president of the Fremont club.

Temple Reported Seeking Joe Lapchick.

TEMPLE is reported flirting with Joe Lapchick, crack basketball coach at St John's (Brooklyn) . . . It costs $500 or more to enter the Grand National and you can get anything from a broken neck to a million bucks out of it . . . Bill Terry may run into trouble at that third base spot . . . Wallace Wade had 83 out for spring practice at Duke and was grinning at the finish. . . . Duke, with a much improved offense, really has it this year and no fooling.

The Ponte Vedra course at Jacksonville (where they'll play the Ryder Cup matches) is one of those Donald Ross designed courses and is almost as tough as the famous No. 2 at Pinehurst. . . . The New Mexico Aggies, who made a big hit here, will be brought back as one of next winter's cage attractions in the Garden. . . . Joe Medwick has signed up, but that doesn't mean he won't be fresh headline news, and very soon, too.

'Murderers' Row' Insures Giants Against Collapse

By NORMAN WALKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

BATON ROUGE La —Power is the potion Bill Terry is cooking up to rejuvenate his New York Giants

Doctors have patched up many of the key players. But Manager Terry thinks a flock of basehits will be the best medicine to win the National league pennant.

Maybe it's a tip from his neighbors, the Yankees, who do all right hitting the ball.

Anyway, the Giants are turning to slugging in case the question-mark pitchers, Carl Hubbell, Hal Schumacher, Clyde Castleman and Cliff Melton, fail to round back into the form that made them in 1937 the most effective mound staff in baseball.

And in case the peanut-farming Phi Beta Kappa, Burgess Whitehead, flops in his comeback at playing second-base

The heavy guns in the Giant attack are the ever-dependable Mel Ott and his new running mate, big Zeke Bonura, the Italian first-baseman purchased from Washington From these twin bombers Terry expects a total of 70 or 80 circuit clouts during 1939 with something between 225 and 250 runs batted in. A big order, but Ott and Bonura think it will be easy

Ott hit 36 homers last year Bonura blasted 22 with Washington and may pole out as many as Ott over the closer Giant left-field fence. Tom Hafey, a rookie with a murderous cut at the ball, slugged 24 homers, 38 doubles and 11 triples for Knoxville in the Southern association last year and, for this reason, may replace the fleet George Myatt at third base

More power at the plate will come from Bob Seeds, the outfielder who hit nine homers for the Giants in 81 games after delivery from Newark last year, Harry Danning, Jim Ripple, Joe Moore and Frank Demaree, all strong hitters.

The batting order is dangerous from end to end with Ott at clean-up followed by Bonura, Danning and Frank Demaree—fence-busters few pitchers in the National league will be able to stop

* * * * *

THE warm southern spring sun finds Hubbell and Schumacher feeling pretty chipper after their elbow operations Castleman and Melton are recovering from their physical ailments and Whitehead is looking surprisingly good in the infield

Terry is hoping and praying his cripples will stand the gaff. So far the situation looks promising but any one of the reconditioned boys may collapse during the long summer campaign

Memphis Bill is prepared for the worst But he believes the new batting strength will help his wobbly oldtimers over the rough spots and give the Giants their fourth pennant since he succeeded the late John McGraw as manager eight years ago

Tough Sexton Meets Husky Foe In Grandovitch Friday Night

THE rise of Frank Sexton in America's heavyweight wrestling ranks has been a feature of the past two years. Plucked from a farm at Sedalia, O., Sexton matriculated at Ohio State university and proceeded to score heavily in the professional mat world.

Sexton has learned a lot since his days on the Buckeye campus and it would appear that he will need this knowledge in the Armory Friday night He has been signed to oppose the "Russian Lion," Leon Grandovitch, in the top bout of an all-heavyweight card.

Grandovitch is one of the foremost heavyweights in the world, has wrestled both in Europe and America with brilliant success. His draw with Everett Marshall of La Junta, Colo., is still considered one of the greatest bouts in recent mat history.

Spill 1331 Uprights In Doubles League

Shepherd Accounts for 673 Total, Ritter Contributes 658 Pins to Big Series.

A "PERFECT DOUBLES" pair was discovered in the persons of Art Shepherd and Clyde Ritter in the City Doubles league at the Meder Recreation alleys last night.

Shepherd and Ritter came through with one of the niftiest tandem totals of the current season when they blasted the uprights for a 1331 count to take three decisions from Cecil Burdette and Sonny Meder.

The former contributed the major portion of the pins with a 673 total, which he climaxed with a 240 game, but Ritter was not far behind with a 658 Ritter opened his string with a 257.

The Shepherd-Ritter duo hung up games of 467, 445 and 419 in their big series. Meder, shooting a 643, led the losers to a 1205

Cliff Forsythe and Joe Cheney came through with the next high total of 1239, but won only one game from Carl Heilman and Dale Cleckner, who shot a perfect game in the league last week Forsythe battered out a 663, with Cleckner being high for the winners with a 626

The other match found Winnie Cleckner and Jack Applan making a clean sweep of their series with Ed Funston and Neil Swank Heiser's 662 Leads Team to 2831 Total.

THE Refrigeration Machines led by Henry Heiser and Johnny Perrine, compiled one of the finest totals of the season in the Westinghouse league when they batted out a 2831 count.

The team started out with an average 866, but stepped up its gait in the middle for a 981, and then finished with a 984 The string was good for a pair of wins over the Tool Room.

Featuring a middle 257, Heiser blasted out a 662 to lead the assault; Perrine contributed a 634, with Orin Grable only two pins short of a 600 Cy Messimer of the Inspectors unloaded a 627

Last night's bowling inaugurated the tournament which the league will conduct for several weeks. The teams are divided into six divisions with the winner in each group winning a prize of $10 at the conclusion of bowling President H C. Little said today

STOCK TRADERS ENCOURAGED BY LONDON RALLY

View Upturn in Foreign Marts as Indication of Hope for Solution to Crisis.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—A shift to the buying side jerked the stock market sharply higher today as Wall Street followed a rally in London.

Opening gains of as much as 4 points in leading shares were pared a bit later but the market retained a firm tone.

Many traders here took the upturn in European markets as indication of hope a solution for Europe's troubles would be found, especially for Italy's colonial claims on France.

Bonds recovered with stocks. Most commodities held in a narrow course.

Wall Street heard reports the European crisis the last week seemed to have checked seasonal expansion in automobile sales. Underlying demand for cars, however, was said to be strong.

Engineering construction awards in the latest week, according to "Engineering News-Record," amounted to $57,893,000 against $49,149,000 in the like period last year.

4 TO 8 YEARS, HINES PENALTY

Tammany Chieftain Sentenced to Prison in N. Y. Numbers Racket Conspiracy.

E. Dewey conceded was of major aid in convicting Hines, received their reward yesterday for pleading guilty and turning state's evidence.

State Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand E. Pecora gave sleek little J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, Dutch Schultz' attorney and successor as head of the racket, a one-year term and let off big Harry Schoenhaus, the gang's treasurer, with a suspended sentence.

As a result of Dewey's appeal for "extreme leniency," Pecora substracted from Davis' sentence the 170 days he already has spent in a Tombs cell.

"If it were not for your age," said Judge Nott, in passing sentence, "I would not be so lenient with you. The evidence showed you were paid at least $30,000 annually to protect this vicious racket and in all previous cases of this type that have come before me, I have been much more stringent."

Hines was pale and nervous. He adjusted and readjusted his glasses. His lawyer, Lloyd Paul Stryker, said that Hines would appeal.

Judge Nott refused to continue the $20,000 bail under which Hines had been at liberty, but granted a stay of execution of sentence to enable Stryker to make an application for a certificate of reasonable doubt—the first step towards an appeal.

THEATERS

HOLLYWOOD NOTES: Intimates of Jackie Coogan insist that $300,000 is much to high a figure for the money involved in his suit with his mother, and that $180,000 would come nearer covering the entire amount. . . . Jane Withers will emulate Shirley Temple in her next picture, "Boy Friend," doing a dance number with an adult partner. The Joe Penners will celebrate their 12th wedding anniversary next month. . . . Tony Martin, on tour, has sent Frau Alice Faye a diamond this big. . . . Constance Bennett, whose reputation for getting along with folks is almost nil, has already split with her partner in the cosmetic business, Countess di Frasso, and has purchased the latter's interests. . . .

* * *

Picturesque Background.

"Fisherman's Wharf," Bobby Breen's latest photoplay which opens today at the Madison, has a picturesque background, an interesting story and a capable supporting cast. Fisherman's Wharf, that part of San Francisco which the guide books don't mention, is the home of a large foreign population and Bobby and his friends are Italian fisher folks. Leo Carrillo and Henry Armetta are in the cast. "A Man To Remember" is the saga of a small city physician.

* * *

Player From Broadway.

Ruth Weston, who is currently appearing in New York in the box office hit "The American Way" with Frederic March and his wife, has a role in the movie, "Made For Each Other" at the Ohio. She plays the girl that James Stewart is supposed to marry but forgets all about when he meets Carole Lombard. Miss Weston is one of the most popular of Broadway players and comes to the screen only infrequently.

* * *

Young Legionnaires.

Although Donald O'Connor has appeared in only two films, he has a following as a child player. He did a man's sized job as the little brother in the Bing Crosby-Fred MacMurray picture "Sing You Sinners," and he plays his second role in "Some of The Legion," at the Ritz Friday and Saturday. This is a stirring boys' story with romance by Tim Holt and Evelyn Keyes. Roy Rogers and Smiley Burnette in a Western is also booked.

* * *

Boy Peons.

A group of unknown juvenile players are used in "Boy Slaves," the Majestic offering for Friday and Saturday. This highly dramatic story deals with a group of homeless boys who get into trouble and are farmed out by the state to a ruthless camp manager who treats the boys like peons. The results are startling. Anne Shirley is also in the film. "Lone Star Pioneers" with Bill Elliott is the second feature.

* * *

Heart-Warming Tale.

With Cliff Edwards as a team mate, Edith Fellows makes her appearance at the Park today in "The Little Adventuress," a heart warming tale of a circus child who is thrown on her own and who gallantly carries on with the help of an old friend. A race in which her one possession, her horse, recoups her fortunes, provides the climax. Supplementing this is "The Painted Desert" with George O'Brien.

RUSSIA BACKS ANTI-NAZI PACT

agreement that France would support Great Britain if Britain regarded a German attack on The Netherlands or Belgium as a threat to vital interests, and that Britain would support France in the event that she regarded a possible attack on Switzerland as menacing her own interests.

As this report of an important and specific move in the British "stop Hitler" drive was circulated, it was understood that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain hoped to be able to make a statement in the commons this afternoon on plans for an anti-aggression declaration by European powers.

Russia today replied to a secret new British proposal, and it was understood that the reply was favorable.

It was generally agreed that there had been serious, and possibly damaging, delay in negotiation for a "stop Hitler" declaration.

Russia originally proposed a six power conference, including Britain, France, Russia, Poland, Rumania and Turkey, to form a "stop Hitler" bloc..

Small Ones Hold Back.

Britain countered with a proposal for an immediate anti-aggression declaration, based on Germany's annexation of Czechoslovakia, by the six powers named by Greece, Bulgaria and Jugoslavia.

The smaller powers, remembering the fate of Czechoslovakia despite its alliances with Russia and France and Great Britain's "advice" held back.

Poland particularly demanded concrete military agreements as part of any "stop Hitler" movement she entered. Russia, too, favored an agreement with teeth in it.

So urgent was the situation that the possibility was considered of a British, French and Russia delegation, to be followed by a general conference of powers, including not only the nine nations which Britain first proposed but the Scandinavian and Baltic countries.

Germany, Rumania Sign Trade Accord.

BUCHAREST, Rumania —(U.P.)— A German Rumanian trade accord was signed today, constituting an agreement of amazingly wide scope.

It grants Germany concessions without precedent in modern relations between two sovereign states.

Despite the scope of the treaty, it was emphasized that Germany in no wise obtains a dominant position in Rumanian economy and that Rumania remains free to conclude agreements with other nations.

The accord runs to 1944 when it can be denounced with one year's advance notice.

The pact aims at the adaptation of the mutual economies of the two countries to each others needs. It is intended to comply with Germanys need for imports and the development of Rumania's production, both for internal consumption and continued trading with other countries.

The accord chiefly concerns the development of the agriculture and mining industries. Under it Germany will furnish Rumania with machinery and mining equipment. She also will organize a Rumanian-German company for the study of the problems connected with mineral oils.

The accord further provides for the creation of free zones in which industrial and commercial enterprise can be established.

'No Surrender' for Czech Pilots

Rather then have them fall into the hands of Nazi war chiefs 1,000 crack Czech military pilots are reported to have flown their planes into neighboring countries — Poland, Rumania, Jugoslavia and the Soviet Union. Photo shows some of the now defunct republic's star airmen parading at the Prague airport just before the annexation.

FINDS PRIDE AS WELL AS SPIRIT OF ADVENTURE CAUSES RUNAWAYS

It's pride as well as the wanderlust that makes boys leave home.

That's the opinion of Capt. William P. Westcott of the Mansfield Volunteers of America who interviews and helps scores of wandering youths every year.

The number of boys of high school age "on the road" has increased in recent weeks because they could find no work and were too proud to stay at home without a job, Westcott said.

When interviewed most of the youths who come to the Volunteers headquarters for help say there is nothing to do at home and rather than be an obligation for their parents they start out to look for a job or adventure.

"Their plans usually don't work out and before long the boys are asking for food and clothing and a place to sleep," Westcott declared.

When boys under 18 apply for help Westcott urges them to go back home where the chances of finding work are far better than in a strange community. Recently he received cards from two of the youths who went back, thanking him for his advice.

"Old age pensions have reduced the number of old men "on the road" since it is easier for them to find a home with relatives and live on their pensions than about the country," Westcott pointed out.

Most of the young men who ask for help have had less than a high school education, Westcott said, although a few of them have attended college and became discouraged when they failed to find work.

The Volunteers headquarters, located at 278 North Main street, provides food, lodging and clothing for homeless men from contributions it receives from the public. Whenever possible, men are put to work repairing furniture, books or clothing at headquarters for which they are paid a small wage.

A 3-PIECE WHITNEY Maple Bedroom

$99.50

SEVENTY years of furniture-making experience have gone into this bedroom group, designed, manufactured and priced to celebrate the anniversary of the country's leading manufacturer of maple furniture.

The careful attention to detail in the design of the delicately-scrolled bases and reverse-curved drawers is just one of the typical Whitney features of superiority. The hard northern maple wood, the rugged construction, and the clear finish which always distinguish Whitney furniture are all included here at a price so low as to defy comparison.

We are the only distributors in this area of the Whitney line of fine furniture for every room. Come in and see the 70th Anniversary Special Group in our display.

PAM—Summing Up! By A. W. Brewerton

DAVID, ALONE IN HIS ROOMS, IS DOING SOME DEEP THINKING!
HOW DID THEY KNOW ABOUT, AND SECURE, CLARE'S GUN? — MUST HAVE COME IN BY THE PRIVATE ENTRANCE — BUT THE POLICE FOUND THAT DOOR LOCKED FROM THE OUTSIDE — HOW DID THE SLAYER GET IN?
--UNLESS THROUGH THE WINDOW --WHICH IS MOST IMPROBABLE, PRACTICALLY IMPOSSIBLE — BUT THERE SEEMS NO REASON WHY ANY ONE IN THE FIRM SHOULD DO IT — AND NO ONE IS ACTING AT ALL SUSPICIOUSLY — THE WIDOW HAS NO SUGGESTIONS, NO SUSPICIONS — SHE HERSELF HAS A PERFECT ALIBI — EVIDENTLY, TOO, THERE WAS LITTLE LOVE LOST BETWEEN ---THEM, DUE TO HIS ATTENTIONS TO OTHER WOMEN! WHAT A ROTTER HE MUST HAVE BEEN! — AND MRS. GALTMAN SEEMS TO HAVE NO CLOSE MALE KIN WHO MIGHT HAVE BEEN MOVED TO ACT FOR HER — GEE! — I'M SURELY GETTING NOWHERE RAPIDLY!
--A HOT SLEUTH, I AM! — MUST BE SLIPPING — LOSING MY TOUCH -- CLARE COULDN'T HAVE DONE IT, I JUST KNOW SHE COULDN'T — I MUST NOT LET THE KID SISTER DOWN! — BY THE ETERNAL, I WILL NOT!
POOR DAVID! — HE IS HAVING A BAD FEW MINUTES! SMALL WONDER, WITH THE SLIGHT PROGRESS HE'S MADE SO FAR!

Chuckle Corner

Cincinnati Reds, doped to win the National league pennant, are held to one hit, no runs by New York Yankees in an exhibition game. Sounds like a preview of the world series.

MEMEL'S HEILS GREET HITLER

reich, so too we here want to give expression to our faith and our confidence in the words, 'Sieg Heil!' "

After the fuehrer finished speaking, enthusiastic singing of the reich's national anthems followed.

While warning the world that no nation on earth could tear the unified German nation asunder, Hitler declared:

"We Germans have no intention of doing harm to the rest of the world.

"The damage which that other world did to Germany, however, had to be repaired again.

'Unique Process Ends.'

"I believe that now, in the main, we have arrived at an end to this unique process of reparation."

This was interpreted as an effort to appease a nervous world and especially Poland.

Hitler came to this first Nazi won seaport by man o' war and landed in German Memel amid a proud display of naval, army and aerial might.

A destroyer bringing the Fuehrer from the Deutschland was fastened to the Memel pier at 2:02 p. m. (8:02 a. m. Est) and Hitler stepped on Memel soil two minutes later. All whistles in the little Baltic port blew as he landed.

Deafening "Heils!" rent the air as Ernst Neumann, Nazi leader for Memel, and other dignitaries greeted the Fuehrer, who yesterday reclaimed Memelland from Lithnania for his expanding realm.

Hitler shook hands with Generals and admirals commanding his forces.

Crowd Shouts.

German airforce units cruised overhead.

As the crowds cried ecstattically, "We thank our Fuehrer," Hitler took a salute of honor from a company of marines.

The Fuehrer next reviewed the Memel security service and thanked the formation's leader for its services.

A band meanwhile played Deutschland Ueber Alles and the Horst Wessel song.

Hitler then took the salute of the Memel police and entered his open automobile to proceed slowly through the newly occupied port.

There were continual cries of "Heil" and Hitler went his triumphal way through the city.

Motorized police and army units preceded him to the theaterplatz, for the "Staatsakt," or ceremony of state.

For fully six minutes the enthusiastic crowd yelled itself hoarse before the state ceremony could begin.

It began with a review of military formations and then Hitler entered the theater to speak from its balcony.

Germany, Lithuania Sign Neutrality Pact.

BERLIN — (U.P.) — Germany and Lithuania have signed an unconditional neutrality treaty, it was announced today, as part of a formal agreement providing for Lithuania's surrender of Memel territory.

The treaty provided for establishment of a free port at Memel for Lithuania's use.

The treaty also prescribes that all Lithuanian military and police forces shall be evacuated from Memel territory immediately, and that the Lithuanian government shall see that the evacuation is effected in an orderly manner

The free port area is to be under German sovereignty.

As Germany celebrated the return of Memel, the government, in close consultation with Italy, prepared plans to strike back at the "Stop Hitler" drive of the democracies.

Well informed Nazi quarters predicted that German retaliatory measures were likely to include:

1—Denunciation of the Anglo-German naval limitation pact in the near future.

2—Publication of documents found at Prague and alleged to disclose British negotiations with leading Czech statesmen for restoration of the Czechoslovak state to pre-Munich agreement form.

3—Powerful trade drives to counteract any Anglo-French trade moves.

No Meal Too Big Or Hearty For Her Since Taking Vendol

Mansfield lady says before taking this splendid Root, Herb and Alkaline medicine and getting relief from constipation, that most everything upset her stomach.

MRS. BESSIE M. ADAMS

"Truly, I wouldn't take anything for the wonderful relief that Vendol has brought me," said Mrs. Bessie M. Adams of 579 Springmill St., the expert Pastry Maker at Max Diner Restaurant, in a statement to the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store, where he daily hears Vendol praised to sky high by some of the most reliable citizens living around here, who tell how it has restored them to full enjoyment of health.

"I allowed myself to become constipated, and this condition lay at the bottom of all my troubles. Got to where most everything I ate nauseated me, turned sour in my stomach, and acid risings burned my throat. I just seemed to ache all over, had no energy and felt dizzy and headachy most all the time. I couldn't get restful sleep because of being called out of bed so often to relieve my kidneys.

"A number of my friends and neighbors were taking Vendol and I often heard them speak highly of the relief it gave, so I got some and also a box of the little Vendol Laxative Tablets and this proved to be one of the wisest things I ever did.

"Gratifying relief from constipation was the first thing I noticed, then no meal was too big or hearty for me to eat and enjoy without a moment's distress following. That isn't all, I get long hours of restful sleep without a call, and arise every morning ready for my day's work. That tired, worn-out feeling has given way to renewed energy, the pains all over my body have been relieved, and I just feel improved in every way.

"Surely, if Vendol could do this for me I know it will help everyone suffering like I did, who is willing to give it a trial. That explains why I'm glad to recommend this splendid medicine to them."

Don't delay giving this great compound of Nature's Roots and Herbs with Mild Alkalines a chance to help you. It is sold by leading druggists everywhere, and the Vendol Man is daily at Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & Fourth Sts., to explain all about it. So, visit him soon.

A. F. OF L. LOSES IN VOTING AT GALION PLANT

63 Oppose Union, 52 Favor It in NLRB Election Held at Steel Company.

by Ned J. Boggs, agent of the National Labor Relations Board, employes of the Central Ohio Steel Products company Wednesday afternoon expressed whether or not they desired representation by the International Association of Machinists, an American Federation of Labor affiliate.

There were 123 employes eligible to vote and of this number 117 cast votes. Votes were tallied as 63 "no," and 52 "yes" to the question of "Shall the International Association of Machinists, Lodge 1151, affiliated with the A. F. of L., represent the workers of the plant?" Two challenge votes were cast.

Voting was held in the carpenter shop of the main plant of the company. Votes were counted immediately after the closing of the polls.

Time and dates of the election was made recently by Andrew A. Meyer, field examiner for the Eighth Regional office, National Labor Relations Board, Cleveland.

15 TO ATTEND BANQUET

GALION — There will be 15 members from Galion aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, qualified to attend the banquet for District 19 to be held Saturday night at Mansfield. This announcement was made at the regular meeting of the local aerie Wednesday night. Visitors were present from the Crestline aerie.

During the business session the lodge voted to contribute $5 to the fund to purchase a two-way radio system for the Galion police department. Two applications for membership in the aerie were received.

Bucyrus Mayor to Pull Switch, Start New Sewage Plant

BUCYRUS — The switches operating the pumps at the city's new $145,000 sewage disposal plant, will be pulled by Mayor George Dustman at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, placing the plant in operation. No other ceremonies are scheduled for the opening of the plant, which has been under construction since last June.

No formal opening of the plant will be held at this time but later in the spring citizens will be afforded an opportunity to visit the plant.

The appointment of the staff at the plant was announced today by Mayor George Dustman. Earl V. Ackerman has been named as chemist operator; George Goebelt and Gilbert Collins, operators and Don Eden, relief operator. Floyd Brown, Marion sanitary engineer, whose firm has been in charge of supervision of the project, has been employed as technical supervisor for the plant for the first six months of its operation.

The plant will have a daily capacity of 1,000,000 gallons. About three months will elapse before the digestor tanks, where the solid matter is treated, will be in full operation, it taking this length of time for the matter to pass through the various tanks.

ASHLAND JURY SIGNS $5,000 DAMAGE AWARD

Tiffin Woman Gets Verdict as Defendant Declines to Contest Charges.

ASHLAND—In an action without precedent in this county, a common pleas jury after deliberating one hour and 30 minutes, yesterday afternoon awarded Mrs. Madaline N. Bull of Tiffin, personal injury damages of $5,000 in her $10,000 suit against J. M. Eakin of Sandsuky.

At the start of the case yesterday, the attorney for the defendant addressed the court and stated that his client had no defense to make, and that the defendant did not wish to introduce any witnesses.

The action began, with only the witnesses for the plaintiff being called and questioned.

It was during the testimony of the witnesses for the plaintiff, that Mrs. Bull, testifying in her own behalf stated that she was injured in an accident here in Ashland Jan. 2 of this year, when a car driven by Eakin, because of his negligence, crashed into one in which she was riding.

Mrs. Bull claimed that the impact of the collision drove her head through the windshield. She further testified that she lost considerable blood, and that 16 stitches were needed to close the cuts in her face.

It was announced here that the hearing was a necessary one, even though the defendant defaulted; that the amount for damages had to be set by the jury.

Eleven members of the jury concurred in the verdict.

ORCHESTRA OF 120 PUPILS TO STAGE CONCERT

All City's Elementary Schools Will Be Represented on Program Tuesday.

The annual concert by the elementary school orchestra will be presented Tuesday in the Senior high school auditorium, S. K. Jorgensen, director, announced today.

The orchestra will be made up of 120 pupils from every elementary school in the city, with proceeds from the concert to be used to purchase instruments for the different grade school orchestras.

Two concerts will be given by the group, one at 2 p. m. for grade school children, and another at 8 p. m. for the public. The program will include nine numbers by the orchestra and selections by instrumental quartets, trios and duets.

Special Numbers.

Ensembled to be featured include two violin quartets comprised of: No. 1—Billy Klinger, Frederick Schenck, Margrethe Jorgensen and Robert Baker; No. 2—Ralph Johns, Helen Malehaner, Felicia Burkett and Edith Stretch; two clarinet quartets: No. 1—Leonard Long, Richard Chapman, Robert Sampsel and Dale Breckenridge; No. 2—Carol Ledering, Joan Beelman, Marjorie Henry and Jay Baughman.

Accompanists for the orchestra and ensemble numbers will be Barbara McKinley, Marjorie Ann Eckstein, Naomi Zediker, Virginia Wagner, Dorothy Zeigler, Dorothy June and Ann Janette Klinger

Tickets for both concerts are being sold by all elementary school children, with a prize going to the student in each building selling the most adult tickets.

One-fourth of all the females in the United States produced 63 per cent of all the children, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reported early in 1939.

Texas Policeman Expert on All 26 Orchid Varieties

HOUSTON, Tex.—(INS)—To the list of policemen's hobbies was added today a new interest—orchid study.

Houston traffic sergeant L. D. Pyle is the pursuer of this unusual hobby. He became familiar with all the 26 varieties in Panama, where they grow wild in the jungles, and made a careful study of the exotic blooms in order to try to paint them.

At the Houston Flower Show, Pyle completely forgot his customary role of "keeping 'em moving." He let the spectators linger at his favorite exhibit as long as they liked so that others sharing his enthusiasm might feast their eyes. He also went to the trouble of explaining to show patrons the characteristics of each bloom.

Pyle said that in the five days he was on duty at the exhibit, he had to caution only one man not to touch the orchids. But women were considerably anxious to feel the flowers which would bring them a thrill of delight could they wear them in a corsage.

BUILDS COFFIN

Carpenter Uses 400 Pieces of Red Cedar to Make It.

LITCHFIELD, Neb.—(INS)—The surviving relatives of Alva Lang, Litchfield carpenter, have been spared the necessity and expense of purchasing a coffin for him when he dies. Lang already has made his coffin, which he keeps in his home. He constructed it with utmost care and skill from 400 pieces of red cedar from Tennessee.

Occasionally, he crawls into the coffin to see if the fit is just right.

Disease Victim Saves Own Life By Saving Others

SEATTLE, Wash.—(INS)—Saving lives is his profession—and by that profession he is saving his own life!

James M. Murphy, 54-year-old former ship's steward, suffers from a rare disease. His body manufactures too many red corpuscles—so many he will die if he doesn't lose some of them. Murphy loses them by giving free blood transfusions.

In the two years since he was stricken by the malady, Murphy has given nearly 40 transfusions, nearly five gallons of his own blood.

Before he contracted the disease, Murphy had been around the world seven time. His illness now keeps him from doing any hard work. Walking two blocks uphill tires him completely. Altitudes, however slight, cause his heart to pound.

So while Murphy takes his enforced rest, he donates blood to patients in King county's Harborview hospital. Profession donors get from $25 to $35 for each transfusion.

Officials estimate approximately one transfusion in five directly saves a life.

The old Romans called the little finger "auricularis" because they used it to remove wax from their ears, or "auricles."

OHIO, MADISON ADOPT DOUBLE FEATURE PLAN

All Five Mansfield Theaters Will Present Twin Bills Starting Sunday.

Starting Sunday every motion picture theater in Mansfield will be operated on a double-feature policy, Warner Brothers announced today that their two first run houses, the Ohio and Madison, will swing over to the two-feature programs on that day.

The Madison has been using double features on the last half of the week for several weeks and the third Warner house, the Majestic, followed that policy when it opened several years ago. The Ritz and the Park theaters are also double feature houses.

Runs All Week.

The Ohio, according to William Dworski, Warner representative in Mansfield and manager of that theater, will have a double bill that will run all week, opening on Saturdays. The Madison will change its program on Sunday and Thursday, with midnight matinees on Saturday nights. For the midnight matinee however, only the top feature will be shown, supplemented with short subjects as at present.

The new policy will practically do away with short subjects except news reels, because of the time element. On week days the shows will open at 1:30 and close at 11:30 p. m., with only three complete shows during that time.

Frank Harpster, Warner Brothers district manager, said today that the new policy will give moviegoers more for their money.

"There will be no change in the quality of pictures shown at the Ohio and Madison," he said. "We will continue to show the first run, top bracket pictures at both theaters. The double-feature policy has proved very popular in thousands of theaters over the country and many of the best theaters in the larger cities are running double bills exclusively."

LISTS JOBLESS

UCC Urges Employers to Take Advantage of Service.

Employers in the Mansfield district today were urged by C. W. Handley, manage. of the Unemployment Compensation commission office here to avail themselves of the services offered by the Ohio State Employment service operated by the UCC.

"This service is now able to furnish employers a classified service of workers in a wide range of skilled and unskilled experience," he said.

He pointed out that the employment service is operated by the UCC for the purpose of obtaining the re-employment of jobless workers now receiving insurance benefits.

Handley added that an employer may signify how many applicants he desires to personally interview for a position to be filled and that applicants are sent to him for the sole purpose of an interview. The employer makes the final determination as to which person or persons, if any shall be employed, he asserted.

AIR AMBULANCE

Flyer Sees 'Help' Sign In Snow; Picks up Trapper.

WHITEHORSE, Y. T.—(INS)—Pilot Sheldon Luck rubbed his eyes when he saw the giant sign "HELP" on the snow-covered ground south of Whitehorse. He looked again—and landed. Luck found the sign had been tramped in the snow by the wife of a sick trapper. The couple had no means of communication to ask medical aid. Luck flew the trapper to a hospital.

THURSDAY, MARCH 23, 1939.

Judged by the early sample, Ohio's spring should attract many Florida visitors.

Need for better water pressure should not be forgotten, merely because there has been no big fire this week.

Swing bands did a 90-million-dollar business in the United States last year—and it was also quite a good year for music.

Can Hitler Be Stopped?

AS ADOLF HITLER moves triumphantly into Memel, the Baltic seaport surrendered to Germany by the impotent little republic of Lithuania, the question of how, or when, the Nazi march will be stopped, remains unanswered.

Now it is the Danzig area and the Polish corridor that are under threat, with no present course predictable other than acquiescence in whatever demands the Fuehrer may make.

Entirely clear, however, is that into whatever new territory Nazi aggression may carry, the same brutal policies of intolerance and suppression of minorities will become effective.

As present conditions in Europe are considered, the idea is strengthened that the 20-year interval since the end of the World war has been little more than a lull in hostilities, during which Germany has had opportunity to re-equip its military forces and regain a fighting power surpassing that with which the Kaiser Wilhelm sought European domination in 1914.

Meanwhile the allied nations aligned against Germany in that conflict have evidenced little realization of ever again being required to meet force with force, and have proved pathetically inadequate in taking an early firm stand against Nazi aggression and Hitler insolence.

As matters now stand, the turmoil in central Europe seems far removed from the United States, and the problems involved appear to be of much more direct concern to Great Britain, France, Russia, and the few remaining European independent nations.

Whether this position of disattachment can be successfully maintained, in the event of a serious effort to "stop Hitler" cannot now be foretold. The interests—and possible fate—of world democracies link closely, when confronted by the threat of unrestrained totalitarian dictators.

Small Capital, Hard Work.

THE death of Charles E. Morris, civic leader and former mayor of Shelby, removes a valuable citizen of that progressive neighboring city, one who had served in varied public and private capacities for many years.

An interesting incident in the early manhood of Mr. Morris is associated with his venture into the grocery business on a capital of $9.37. As the story is told, he cleared off indebtedness within the first year and also paid for a stock of merchandise worth $2,000.

What is so frequently omitted in a success story, however, is the energy, determination, hard work and previous experience in merchandising, which Mr. Morris carried into the task of starting in the grocery business.

Establishing and successfully operating a retail business presents difficulties which many people do not seem to realize, else there would not be so many failures of small businesses entered into by inexperienced persons who lack business training and qualifications essential to store management.

Young people, and even older ones, who are attracted by the idea of having "a store of their own" will do well to get all the experience and training possible before venturing money in establishing or taking over a small business.

Evidence of Religious Revival.

AFTER a period of careless living, lost faith and widespread "ungodliness," and even while many churches remain almost empty, there seems to be a strong trend back to religion.

This trend, which might be called revival of interest in religion rather than a renewal of religious fervor, is said to be especially noticeable in young people. The chaplain of a big American university said recently that college chapel services are better attended now than at any time within his long experience. Wherever he goes around the country, he finds students crowding into the religious services. The grown-ups are not so much interested. The young people, though not "pious" in the old sense, seem eager to find "what religion is about" and what it can do for them.

Along this line a statement by Dr. Henry C. Link, printed in a current series of newspaper articles, is impressive. He says that he has rediscovered religion.

> "My return to religion," he explains, "is not important, but the discovery of scientific psychology which influenced me are. In spite of the great benefits which the physical sciences have bestowed on mankind—a longer life, a more comfortable home, a life free from physical pains, and a life filled with an infinite variety of interesting objects and educational experiences, there is no evidence that individuals are happier, that families are more united, that governments or political bodies are wiser, or that nations are less likely to go to war."

He finds in revived religion something to supply these needs. He regards religion "not as the refuge of the weak, but the weapon of those who would be strong; as an aggressive mode of life by which the individual becomes the master of his environment, not its complacent victim."

Elms on Fifth Avenue.

AN UNUSUAL tree-planting enterprise is that of Rockefeller Center Inc., New York. It is setting out, along its Fifth avenue frontage, eight large elm trees, each about forty-five years old.

The first tree, a fifteen-ton elm with roots in a flattened ball twelve feet in diameter and four feet thick, required three hours to plant. The roots were set in a pit fourteen feet square and four feet deep, lined with a mixture of top soil and fertilizer.

Such tree-planting is expensive. Great care and special attention are required to enable the tree to survive the shock of transplanting, adapt itself to its new environment and win its fight against adverse conditions provided by unnatural urban surroundings. That the task is undertaken, in spite of difficulties, is eloquent proof of an awakening appreciation of the value of such trees on city streets.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—As congress approaches debate of our neutrality policy it becomes plain as day that the administration wants all legislative shackles removed wherever they interfere with the free exercise of diplomatic action.

Just now it wants to be able to:

1 Refuse supplies to aggressor nations. The only active aggressor now is Japan, but likely Italy and Germany will be included.

2 Keep foreign diplomats from snickering up their sleeves over extraordinary legislative restraints imposed upon the chief executive and his foreign ambassadors when they deal in foreign affairs.

The administration considers the second as most important just now as a peace preservative. The president as much as said so in his carefully guarded statement about the Neutrality Act. That act requires the president to shut of all military supplies to nations at war. American nations excepted. He considered it certain that existence of the Neutrality Act had contributed more toward war than toward peace.

* * *

Shuts Off All Help.

WHY? He did not say, but his line of reasoning is plain. England and France, rightly or wrongly, count this country probably sympathetic, possible an ally, in any affray breaking out in Europe.

The Neutrality Act makes that "alliance" less certain and less valuable to them. It would lock up all American arms and ammunition the very day war broke out. President Roosevelt has known that the two nations considered the act a handicap to their diplomatic position. They considered it—and so did their foes—as a factor contributing to their weakness at Munich.

It may be that this country should not give a rap whether the position of the English and French is weakened by the isolationist nature of our Neutrality Act. Opponents of the president's policy have said as much. But the present administration thinks differently. It has not said so openly but it has indicated so in more ways than one.

It wants its diplomats to be able to hint, without necessarily speaking out, that if trouble comes this country is more likely to be friendly to England and France than to Germany and Italy.

With the Neutrality Act on the books, such diplomatic "undertones" sound cracked. The Neutrality Act says, in effect, that congress is not going to let this country be friendly to any one when the war comes. That includes England and France.

* * *

Cuts Persuasive Power.

AND because the administration and its diplomatic agents abroad cannot display the administration's friendliness unfettered, their persuasive weight abroad is lessened. Their warnings—temperate thought they may be—carry less weight against nations looking for a chance to leap.

It is this administration attitude that forms the basis of the upcoming debate. At times the Neutrality Act itself becomes little more than a side issue. Some members of congress who criticize the administration policy nevertheless agree with the administration that the Neutrality Act is bad legislation.

They don't like the Neutrality Act. But even more they don't like the administration's implied reasons for not liking it. They look upon England, France and the whole European scene as a sour job, out of which this country should keep its hands.

Thus the fight in that respect becomes again the old battle over the League of Nations. That affair lasted many, many months, and the isolationists won, hands down.

Senate Minority Wields Power

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON— The essential difference between the Roosevelt compromise plan for government reorganization and the change that Senator Burton K. Wheeler wished to effect is important simply because a strong minority of the senate can prevent the passage of any measure to which it is opposed.

Thus the plan desired by President Roosevelt would permit any change he may see fit to make in shifting the government bureaus and commissions to become permanently effective unless, within six months, congress should decree otherwise. But every one familiar with senate procedure know that any president would have enough friends in the senate willing to talk against time to prevent the passage of the resoltuion which would veto the change the president had just ordered. This is especially true because almost inevitably the group of senators who would be willing to filibuster if the president so desired would be reinforced by another group which favored this particular change.

* * *

AS AN illustration, take what might happen with regard to the Forest Service, which now is in the department of agriculture, but which the department of the interior thinks it should have. Suppose the president transferred it to the department of the interior and the reorganization bill should have become law in the form the president desires.

Immediately friends of some of the Forest Service officials, and of certain department of agriculture officials, would start a move to have congress veto this proposed change. But, even assuming that a substantial majority of both house and senate disapproved of the change, the odds would be tremendously in favor of the president winning out. If a majority of the house were opposed to the change, the house would undoubtedly pass a resolution vetoing it. But in the senate the story would be different.

Present calculations are that there are about 30 senators who would follow the president on any issue to which they have no violent objections. It would be fair to substract ten from this number, for perhaps ten of the 30 might have personal or political reasons for opposing this particular change. But this ten would probably be replaced by another ten who favored the change, and hence would join the president's followers in opposing the veto resolution.

It is unthinkable that any measure to which 30 senators are vigorously opposed could pass the senate. Especially when all the strength of White House influence, patronage and pressure would be thrown in the scale on the side of the 30.

* * *

THERE were only 20 senators, at the high tide of their strength, anxious to prevent ratification of the Versailles Treaty in any form. There were less than 30 in the group which prevented passage of the anti-lynching bill last session. And in neither of these cases did the dissenters have the power of the White House on their side.

By the same token, the Wheeler plan, which would require affirmative action by congress to approve a change in government organization proposed by the president, would make changes extremely difficult.

Timely Editorial

Not Easy Work.

The average typist, according to a Cleveland investigator, expends more physical effort in an eight hour day than a man who digs ditches. The statement is not easy to believe, but any ditch digger or other strong man can satisfy himself of its truth by a period of steady typing, which at the end of an hour, we venture to say will leave him more exhausted in nerves if not in muscles than would a full day of his customary labor. The typist's strokes are light, but there are a million of them and, delivered swiftly and unceasingly, they sap one's strength.

American's traveling abroad are usually scandalized at the sight of women working in the harvest fields, an occupation which we assume to be unsuitable for the frail feminine physique. We may spare our censure, however, for here at home, apparently, a harder type of work, and one which is probably about the hardest in our whole industrial system, is performed almost exclusively by women.—Detroit News.

Health Advice

To Guard Against Pneumonia.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE Pneumonia Committee of the Health Conservation association feels that everyone should be acquainted with the objects of treatment and nursing in pneumonia. We are near the very end of the seasonal pneumonia period now, but a high rate of incidence occurs at this time.

The signals of the onset of pneumonia should be known to intelligent laymen, especially housewives who control the destiny of a family. The significance of a sudden elevation of temperature, a chill, pleurisy or blood-tinged sputum, even though they be mild, should be thoroughly appreciated.

The physician should be informed of their occurrence at once. If no medical attention has been secured, its importance should be explained and such attention obtained without delay. In the meantime, strict rest in bed is essential.

Arouse Suspicion.

1—Even one or two of these symptoms should arouse the suspicion of pneumonia and make medical attention imperative.

2—Pending the arrival of the physician, certain of these symptoms may require palliative treatment.

(a) Chill:

(1) Use external heat, warm blankets, jackets, stockings, hot water bottles, etc.

(2) Give warm drinks if there is no vomiting.

(3) Take temperature, pulse and respirations immediately following the chill and again one-half hour later.

(4) At end of chill remove external applications. Change wet clothing. Give alcohol rub.

(b) Some relief from pleurisy may often be obtained by having the patient lie on the affected side, although in an occasional case the opposite position will be found more effective. This depends somewhat on whether the diaphragmatic or thoratic pleura is affected.

Isolate Patient.

Communicable disease technique is indicated. Isolate patients in bed and in a room by himself. If this cannot be done, arrange beds so that there is a screen between them or the head of one is opposite the foot of the other, so that coughing and droplet infection are eliminated. Thorough washing of the hands with soap and water after caring for the patient is a fundamental.

Mouth hygiene is important for comfort of patient. It may also be a factor in preventing the extension of infection into adjacent organs, i. e., sinuses, middle ear, mastoid, etc. The mouth should be cleaned as often as necessary to keep mucous membranes clear and moist.

Maintenance of proper room temperature (66-70 degrees F.) and of humidity (40-60 per cent) is of importance not only to a patient's comfort but also to a healthy condition of the respiratory mucous membranes. Moisture may be more or less automatically regulated when plenty of fresh outdoor air is obtained. However, the room should not be allowed to get too cold or the patient to be exposed to a draught.

A Farmer's Diary

The Country Store.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE village was unincorporated, and the store was the only one there. It combined groceries, hardware, drygoods, notions, feed and grain, cream station and postoffice—all under one roof. Outside, the oldtime hitching rail was still intact. At one side was tied a team of gray horses with a light delivery wagon. At the other an old bay mare was hitched, with a high-topped buggy. The legs and under bodies of the horses were splashed with dripping clay that clung in ropes to the hair. The wagon and buggy wheels were burdened with ooze that slowly coursed down the spokes to the ground.

I went in. It was not very light inside, at first, and the keeper was occupied with a customer in the rear. My first impression was through my sense of smell. All in one breath. I caught the mingled scents of cheese and tobacco, mothballs and new overshoes, radiator alcohol and sheep dip, coal smoke, sawdust, and men who had recently tended animals. I heard young chickens peeping somewhere and saw sacks of feed piled high in a back room.

A squatty cast iron stove stood at one end, with the ample door partly open. Below, on the floor, four small boards boxed in a border of sawdust. Back of the stove, two men sat with their feet propped upon the stove rail, warming. From time to time one or the other spat into the rim of sawdust beneath the stove.

The proprietor came out of the rear room, followed by a farmer who carried a ten-gallon cream can. The storekeeper was a little, oldish man—the farmer a burly, heavy-jowled young fellow with a ruddy, good humored face.

"They're makin' it all too complicated—this farmin' bizness," the little man was saying. "Why, after a while it'll get so a man can't raise him a garden or keep a cow without a dozen inspectors come snoopin' out to give 'em permission!"

"We got our barn fixed, anyhow—it's so durn clean since we cemented and painted that the ol' cows won't speak to me no more," laughed the other.

"Was there somethin'?" the owner of the store turned to me. "Sorry to keep you waitin'."

"I wanted a box of tacks," said I, "but there's no hurry. You have quite a varied stock of goods here, I see. I guess you do quite a business." He sized me up and grinned, wryly.

"Nothin ain't the same no more as it used to be—now is it?" was all he said.

Listen, World!

Have You "Missed Too Many Boats"?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THEY'VE an expression up in Alaska that certainly calls the turn on a lotta human nature . . .

Great place, Alaska—with its endless space and quiet—like a great, strong, healing hand. Yet you've gotta look out! Things happen to the human who sticks too close to the quiet. After a while there's a look in his eye . . . and a queer kind of drag to his tongue . . . and you know without anyone drawing a map that he's been on his lone too long.

That's when folks begin to say he's "lost too many boats." Boats, of course, being a fellow's way out of the North. But they're not just talking about his body needing a trip. It goes a heap deeper than that . . .

You can get as "holed in" with strange notions as you can with ice and snow.

Look at the eyes you pass every day and you'll see it happening. Never saw the "great, white waste," most of them. And they'd call you a liar—pronto!—if you told them they were prisoners. But they are! Just listen to them for half an hour and they'll prove it.

Just like those poor devils up in the North, they'll start "harkin' back." Telling you about the Good Old Days when he made that score for the Brownsville Team and the whole daggoed town went wild! Or the time she had a new sweetheart phoning every night, 'n' John almost killed himself because she said "yes" to Jim!

Or maybe they'll start to tell you What Ails the Country—or how children usta behave when THEY wuz young—or what's wrong with Religion—or the foolishness of pamperin' these yere Criminals—or any one of 8,937,652 other fossilized old subjects.

And, as they talk, by the look of their eyes and the queer kind of drag to their tongue, you'll know, without anyone drawing a map, they've BEEN ON THEIR LONE TOO LONG!

FOR YOU CAN AS SURELY BE "ON YOUR LONE" IN A BIG CITY AS YOU COULD IF YOU WERE IN THE MIDDLE OF THE SAHARA OR THE TOP OF THE NORTH POLE.

HOW LONG SINCE YOU TOOK A BOAT OUT . . . A MENTAL "BOAT" THAT WOULD FORCE YOU TO FACE NEW HORIZONS?

How long since YOU left the few familiar facts and prejudices and ideas upon which your life is built?

How long since YOU dared to seek a new environment . . . new tasks and tests and challenges?

YOU'VE MISSED TOO MANY BOATS, STRANGER." You THINK you're fresh and current . . . you believe you're in circulation. But I'll bet my hunk o' jerkie against your chew o' terbac' that we're both daggoned near to bein' a couple old Sourdoughs—and don't know it!

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Slipshod"—Skidding Heels.

"Thy wit," wrote Skakespeare, "shall ne'er go slipshod."

"Slipshod" is figurative for carelessness and slovenliness—in dress, manners, speech or style; but that is not how it started, not exactly, that is.

Originally, "slipshod" was an allusion to skidding heels.

The literal reference, soon to be broadened in application, was to shoes or slippers so run or worn down to a curve at the back, that one so shod was prone to slip.

Hence slip-shod.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Were I a Princess.

Were I a princess, I would give
You lands and deck my hair
With jeweled crowns and buy me robes
Of gold to make me fair.

Were I a princess, I would lay
The world there at your feet
And shameless, woo you, all my heart
Exposed, your heart to meet.

But I am just a girl of this
Prosaic every day.
And I must keep my dreams subdued
In the accepted way.

Must walk sedately, try to be
Unmindful where you go,
But I will win, for subtle are
The simple arts I know.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Few guests realize what expensive luxuries hotel publications are. These are (or should be) the brightly illustrated, appealing magazines found in your room in any major hotel.

They are printed on the finest glazed paper. They are filled with costly art, and they attempt to mirror the more exciting and pleasant aspects of the city's life.

Many of these publications represent an extravagant waste of opportunity and effort. They degenerate into miniature directories, listing amusement centers, museums, and tourists bureaus. A lot of the New York ones show no more imagination than a handbill or a throw-away.

I see these all the time. They come in here from many of the big hotels out of town, and from all of the expensive hotels in New York.

* * *

I THINK if I were asked to edit one of these publications I would study the back issues of the Roosevelt Review, edited by Mel Washburn. This is the magazine sponsored by the Roosevelt in New Orleans, not New York, and it certainly is the most entertaining and instructive I have seen yet.

Washburn obviously operates under the theory that his first duty is to entertain, and he does. The current issue, for example, carries 145 illustrations, all newsworthy, all timely, up to the minute, interesting. They range from informal studies of Paul Whiteman lounging with friends at a bar to the sweep of pageantry and Mardi Gras.

The reading matter contains absorbing recitals of the old river gamblers, of the early minting of money in New Orleans, of antebellum justice as administered in Royal street, and an account of how Old Hickory was once fined $1,000 by Judge Hall, who feared no one and who is remembered now chiefly because he made the fine stick. That was 125 years ago, and few people outside of historians knew anything about it.

I hope Mel Washburn doesn't mind being held up as an example, and I hope this doesn't anger any of my New York friends. But some of the publications in the New York hotels are so sadly inadequate that Mr. Washburn's handiwork makes them look worse than they are. That shouldn't be.

* * *

IF YOU see a pleasant but familiar-looking young fellow driving a hack around New York, don't be too sure it isn't Don Ameche. They say he has already applied for a license and will take one of the lobster shifts, "just for fun."

Of course, the fact that in his new picture, "Midnight," he appears as a taxi-driver is just a coincidence—one of those inexplicable little coincidences which somehow always take place when press-agents put their heads together.

Actors sometimes like to indulge in these whimsies. John Barrymore rode a zebra down Broadway, and Douglas Fairbanks frequently shinnied up telephone poles—all for the edification of the crowd—and a few lurking photographers.

State Maintenance Division in County Employs New Men After 7 Are Dismissed.

The state highway maintenance staff in Richland county included an almost entirely new personnel today with the employment of six new men to replace seven who were dismissed recently.

Frequent replacements have been made in the staff since the Republican administration took over the state government in January and approximately 25 new men are now employed in the department. There were 33 maintenance workers when the administration changed.

Murray D. Shaffer, division highway engineer, said a few other changes would be made as the new men become more accustomed to their duties, permitting the dismissal of old employes.

The six new men employes are Vincent Foote of Bellville, Willard Groff, S. D. LeMunyon, Arthur Warrack, Roy Finney and Camp Smeltzer, all of Mansfield.

Workers who were discharged in the shake-up were G. M. Reed, Shelby; Leslie Merrin, Butler; William Savene, Peter Deschner, Philip Knapp, Andrew McGraw, and Sam S. Walker, all of Mansfield.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

LONA WAS like an excited child as she showed Jim about the rooms she had rented for their first home.

"Isn't it perfect?" she asked, when they had come to the tiny kitchen.

"It's great, girl," he agreed. "And you look swell in that apron. Sort of like—home, isn't it?"

The longing in his voice touched her. "Oh, Jim!" she said, and clung to him. "It's so good to be happy."

"You are happy, then, girl?" It almost seemed as if he were reassuring himself.

"Of course I'm happy. I'm so happy I could almost cry. Think of it! No more looking for work, no more boarding houses, no more being lonesome . . ."

"Maybe you've jumped from the frying pan into the fire." His voice was teasing. "Just wait until you have to get up at 6 o'clock and get my breakfast. And cook and scrub and make beds, and—what else does a housewife have to do?" He paused, inquiringly. "It's a terrible life, the women all say . . . 'From early morn to setting sun, A woman's work is never done' " he chanted triumphantly. "See what you've let yourself in for?"

She laughed as she set out gleaming white dishes on the red and white linen tablecloth. "I'm going to love every minute of it," she proclaimed, confidently.

* * *

It was a truly delicious meal. From the steak, sizzling with butter, and oozing juice, to the fragrant steaming coffee that came from the tiny dripolator in a golden stream, everything was perfect. Watching him enjoy it, Lona's pride stirred justifiably. She had, she felt, outdone herself.

"This is swell, girl," Jim told her, approvingly, as he pushed back his plate and reached for his pipe. She had it ready for him, together with the evening paper, and she made a great ado of establishing him in the easy chair in the living room while she cleared off the table. He objected at first, insisting upon helping her with the dishes, but she brushed aside his scruples.

"You're spoiling me," he told her, solemnly, pulling her down on his lap for a moment before he let her have her own way. "I'm warning you." But in his kiss she read that he was secretly delighted at her solicitude. She'd keep him that way, she vowed, as she went back to tidy up the tiny kitchen.

* * *

She had the place back in exquisite order when the click of Dinah's chair sounded in the hall outside, followed by a tap on the door. A gray-haired, sweet-faced woman, with some of Dinah's own beauty still clinging to her lined face, wheeled the girl into the room, and Lona knew before she had spoken that she was going to like Mrs. Morriss.

"We've come to make sure you're comfortable over here," the woman told her, when introductions had been completed. "If there's anything needed that's not here, you're to tell me. It's the first time we've rented these rooms, you know, and I was a little afraid the equipment might not be adequate."

"It's perfect," Lona assured her. "You're not to worry about us, Mrs. Morriss. We're going to like it here. I feel lucky to find such a place."

"I'm glad you've come." The woman's eyes went to Dinah's bright head and back to Lona. "Dinah, here has been telling me about you" she offered "It will make me feel easier to know there's someone in the house when I'm away. Someone she likes having."

"I'm glad Lona will have company, too," Jim said, then, and he and Mrs. Morriss looked at each other in sudden understanding that made Lona feel very young; as if she and Dinah were two children who needed to be cared for.

"They talk as if we were a couple of infants," Dinah broke in, laughing impishly in mock disgust.

"You are," Jim shot back at her, and she laughed in earnest. Neither of you are past the spanking age."

"Just you try spanking us!" she bantered, and Lona knew that Jim's swift acceptance of her on an equal footing with Lona, despite her encumbrance, had won her sturdy heart.

"I've been thinking all afternoon about that party we were talking of at lunch," she brought out, then. "Would the evening after next suit you? That would give me two days to raise the crowd on the telephone There's nothing going on that night, either. It's an open date."

"That would be just right," Lona told her "And I think it's wonderful of you to go to all this trouble for us. I—appreciate it."

"It's fun" Dinah's blue eyes snapped. "I love having parties Besides, it isn't any trouble for me. I don't have to work. I just sit here in this chair and do the bossing. Do you dance?" She turned to Jim suddenly.

"Slightly," he admitted. "May I engage the first dance with you now? That is, if you must have dancing?"

Dinah's laugh was a silvery tinkle. "It's nice of you to be so gallant," she told him. "But you can't dance with a wheel chair."

They went on that way for the rest of the visit. As if they had known each other always, Lona thought, as she lay that night in the old-fashioned bed. It pleased her to think that Jim liked Dinah and that Dinah approved of him, a pleasure that amused her when she recalled that this morning she hadn't even known Dinah existed. And now, here she was, lying awake, thrilled because of a party promised her by a stranger.

She was more excited over this party than she had thought it was possible to be, over anything so trivial. It had been so long since she had taken part in any social gathering. Her last real party had been in Bridgewater before the thing that had turned her life awry had happened.

She had been escorted that night by the very man her father had to shoot, she recalled now, with a shudder. It had been a troubled gathering, alive with the undercurrents of what was to come. Dismay took hold of her as she thought back over it. Ought she to be so free with these people here in Brighton? Was it, as she had always felt since those old black days, too dangerous, after all, to have friends?

* * *

Oh, but things were different, now, she told herself. Such thoughts were morbid. Nothing dreadful was going to happen to her again. She was done with horror. Listening to Jim's even breathing beside her, she succeeded in pushing back the memories that for a moment had crowded into her mind. Pulling herself again into a pleasant sense of expectation, she finally drifted off to sleep.

* * *

She was soon to learn that when Dinah said party she meant just that. The next two days were a flurry of preparations. Not that there was to be anything elaborate or costly about the affair. It was of necessity, simple. But it seemed that here in Brighton, as in all small towns, there was a definite routine to be followed in getting together "the crowd."

First there was a succession of telephone calls. It seemed to Lona that Dinah had sat with her ear glued to the receiver for a solid morning when she announced, finally, that everyone had been reached, and all but two had accepted. The most important of the acceptances was, Lona was assured, that of "Pinky" Malone. He, it developed, was the local piano player. Without him there would be no dancing. The music being assured, there was the matter of refreshments to be considered next.

"Chicken salad," Dinah proclaimed without hesitancy. "Mother's famous for her chicken salad. They'll expect it. With hot biscuits and pickles."

"Why, that's a meal, Dinah!" Lona laughed. "They must eat well in this town."

"There must be punch, too. Bobby Graves will bring over the stuff and spike it at the last minute," Dinah confided with a wink. "Mother's dry, you know. She won't serve any drinks. But, of course, if she doesn't know—"

"But, Dinah, if she objects—"

"Oh, she just pretends she doesn't know. It's a great joke. Bobby always mixes the punch and nobody asks what he puts into it. You see, all our mothers are dry. This is a dry town. That is, they vote dry, but—" She broke off, and laughed, and Lona laughed with her. There were so many delicious contradictions about this place.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood Get Doan's Pills.

SHIFTS MEETING OF 'TOWN HALL'

C. of C. to Revive Forum at Legion Home Tonight With Water Issue as Topic.

Because of the widespread interest shown in the revival of "Town Hall" by the Chamber of Commerce, the meeting which was to have been held in the chamber's assembly room tonight has been shifted to the American Legion home on Park avenue west, Robert M. Miller, acting secretary-manager, announced today.

More than 100 representatives of civic groups have already signified their intentions of attending the meeting scheduled for 7.30 p. m, Miller said.

The topic of discussion which will be led by C. L. VanDerau president of the chamber, will be in connection with the proposed rehabilitation of Mansfield's water distribution system through a $600,000 bond issue.

City officials and representatives of civic groups have been invited to the meeting to formulate plans for "putting over" the proposed issue at the August primaries.

The principal speaker will be George Tatnall of Chicago, an engineer for the National Board of Fire Underwriters who will discuss the water supply and its relation to fire insurance rates.

VanDerau said the purpose of the meeting was to create public sentiment in favor of the bond issue which the chamber's board of directors has asked city council to submit to the voters in August.

MENTIONED FOR COUNCIL POST

C. Imhoff Likely Candidate for Berth Vacated by Death of C. W. Morris.

SHELBY — Appointment of a councilman-at-large to succeed the late Councilman Charles W. Morris, who died unexpectedly Wednesday at the Shelby Memorial hospital, is expected to be made at a special meeting of city council later this week or the first of next week, city officials said today.

Under the city charter form of government, appointments to fill vacancies in the council are made by the council The special meeting is expected to be called by Mayor D. B. Young. Mayor Young was absent from the city today and could not be reached for comment.

Mentioned as a likely candidate is Clarence Imhoff, 31 Third street, who opposed Councilman Morris at the 1937 election. Although all candidates run on a non-partisan ticket under the city charter form of government, Imhoff, a Democrat, is expected to receive a strong support from Councilmen Kenneth Rothlisberger and John Chew, who had the endorsement of the Democratic party at the 1937 election.

5 SUITS, APPEAL TO BE HEARD BY JURY NEXT WEEK

Damage Actions for $20,000, $4,500 Top Common Pleas Court Calendar.

Five suits and an appeal from Mansfield municipal court are slated for trial next week before the county petit jury which has been recessed for three weeks.

Heading the calendar are two damage suits for $20,000 and $4,500, respectively, resulting from automobile accidents, the latter case involving a driver who allegedly became too affectionate toward his woman companion and let his car go into a ditch.

In the suit for $4,500, Mrs. Pearl Rose of Mansfield seeks damages from William Wilkins, Mansfield, who she contends lost control of his car when he attempted to put his arm around her while they were riding north of the city in February, 1938. The car went into a ditch, injuring her shoulder, her petition states.

The case is scheduled for trial Tuesday with Atty. George W. Biddle representing Mrs. Rose.

The $20,000 suit seeks damages for injuries suffered by James Hazlett, Mansfield, a minor, on Oct. 12, 1936, while he was a passenger in a car driven by Curtis Williams, jr., also of Mansfield.

Car Hits Phone Pole.

Young Hazlett, represented by Atty. George H. Blecker, accuses Williams of driving too fast, causing the car to skid and hit a telephone pole along Park avenue east. Attys. Stuart H. Cramer and J. H. McNeal are counsel for the defendant. Trial of the case is set for Monday.

Scheduled for hearing Wednesday is a case in which Mrs. Gladys Hammett, Mansfield, seeks $2,591 damages for injuries she suffered when she slipped and fell on a pavement near the Fairview hotel. She names the Hotel Fairview, Inc., defendant in the suit, contending that snow and ice was not cleared off the sidewalk. She was injured last Nov. 29.

Atty. Joseph A. Bayer represents Mrs. Hammett and Atty. Stuart H. Cramer is counsel for the defendant. The case is on Wednesday's calendar.

Other cases on the week's schedule are:

James Cochran vs. Leland Sorgen, for $3,293 damages resulting from traffic accident; Atty. George W. Biddle for plaintiff and Joseph A. Bayer for defendant.

Charles McKellogg vs. Julia B. McKellogg, for a $336 judgment on note; Attys. Beam and Beam for plaintiff and J. V. Will and Theodore Lutz for defendant.

Lena Bringham vs. A. R. Bringham, appeal from a municipal court decision; Atty. George W. Biddle and T. Y. McCray for defendant.

DEER MIGRATE

Canada Draws Plan To Provide Food For Eskimos.

DAWSON, Y. T.—(INS)—A mass migration of 800 reindeer across frozen northwest Canada for the MacKenzie delta to the mouth of Anderson river is part of Canada's plan to provide food for Eskimos above the Arctic circle. The animals, which are being herded 150 miles overland, are part of the original herd numbering thousands which was driven 2,000 miles from Alaska by Lapp herders.

SEWS UP TENDON

Texas With Lacerated Hand Treats Wound Himself.

DALLAS, Tex.—(INS)—An ordinary needle and white thread aren't exactly the right thing for sewing up a cut hand, C. C. Murphy had learned today. Emergency hospital physicians who examined the job Murphy performed on himself commented that it was neatly done all right, but fixing up a severed tendon isn't quite as simple as darning a sock. They removed the stitches and sent Murphy to the city hospital to have the job done over again.

Book of the Week

"MARGINAL LAND," by Horace Kramer (Lippincott: $2.50).

* * *

ONCE in a while a first novel arrives which is so genuine that its honesty cancels out any fault it may have. At still rarer intervals one comes along which does not have the faults, and then this department relaxes and enjoys itself.

Horace Kramer's "Marginal Land" is in the latter class with perhaps one small exception which should be mentioned now, and then forgotten. Especially when he is in a hurry to start his novel, the author slights scenes and sequences which seem to this reader to need fuller treatment, meaning particularly the life of young Stephen Decatur Randall with his mother in Chicago.

But from the moment young Randall arrives in South Dakota the proportions and the pace of the book slip into a natural balance which is maintained to the end. The novel is a first attempt, but the writer is a Chicago man who has been making a living with promotional matter for a long while, and he has a persuasive way with words.

Very simply, the story of "Marginal Land" is the story of a young man named Stephen who found himself an orphan in Chicago with no possessions except a large farm in South Dakota. This he would have at a certain age—meanwhile he works at bookkeeping and such like, and develops a "chest." When he goes to Dakota it is because he has to go. And by that time he is married.

From that time forward, "Marginal Land" is two-sided. On one side of the line is a brilliantly drawn set of characters who become so familiar in the reader's mind that they have a tendency to crowd out flesh and blood people and events. On the other is a natural phenomenon: that great cycle of dry periods alternating with wet periods which plagues the marginal lands of the Dakotas and other states.

The soil in which Stephen takes root is alternately harsh and dry, and moist enough to raise liberal crops. Little by little he reaches an adjustment with this condition and achieves a philosophy which can support him. Not everybody with whom he comes into contact can do this, and the stresses thus set up crackle and snap through much of the book. Land of this sort breeds people to suit it; most of these the boy from Chicago found rewarding.

The author was born in Yankton, S. D., which may account for the accuracy of his local color.

CO-EDS CAN COOK

University of Chicago Men Find Their Food's Good.

CHICAGO—(INS)—For the last few weeks, 400 men students at the University of Chicago have been eating food prepared by nine co-eds from the institutional management class without knowing it. When the secret finally came out, the men were not only amazed, but actually pleased with the whole idea. The kitchen chefs let the girls prepare the food, and insisted that the meals were as tasty as the ones that they prepare themselves.

Insu'n Will Help Bag 'Pink Elephants,' Doctor Says.

ARLINGTON, Mass.—(INS)—Are you one of those poor unfortunates who see "pink elephants" after a drinking spree? Do you want a quick cure? Then see your doctor and ask for a dose of insulin. Recent successful experiments with insulin in the treatment of delirium tremens or "pink elephant" fits arising from extreme alcoholism were announced by Dr. Hosea W. McAdoo and Dr. Curtis T. Prout at a doctor's convention here.

HOW MANY MILES DID I TRAVEL?
(Each Dot is a Mile)
It's Easy (Oh Yeah!)
Think You Can Count Em?
So, you think anybody can do it, huh! Well JUST TRY IT. It starts out nice and easy like there's nothing to it, but I'll bet before you're through, you'll be seeing dots hopping all over where there ain't no dots, and big black jumping dots will probably chase you all over the ceiling after you go to bed tonight. You'll probably forget how many dots you've counted just about when you think you've got it finished too—so, you'll have to start all over again, and that'll be just dandy. But, if you should be interested enough to try, you might WIN FIFTY DOLLARS cash, and I suppose
YOU WOULD LIKE TO WIN $50.00 CASH RIGHT NOW—WOULDN'T YOU?
If you are interested in making an easy $50.00 extra cash on the side in your spare time, then send in your answer QUICK! For first prize I'LL PAY $50.00; 2nd $15.00; 3rd $10.00; 4th $7.50; and 5th $5.00. So, whether you win $50.00 or $5.00, YOU'LL BE PAID REAL CASH MONEY promptly. You may send your answer any time up to midnight, Sat., April 15, 1939—BUT send it NOW because I'll give
$25.00 EXTRA—FOR PROMPTNESS
If you send your answer now—within 3 days—I'll give you an EXTRA $25.00 CASH for Promptness if you win the first prize of $50.00. Both the $50.00 and the $25.00 Extra may be yours. So, HURRY!—WIN THEM BOTH. That's easy money now—isn't it?
THEN WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?
Let's go! Times a'wastin. So hurry! Start NOW to Lasso, shoot, net or club every last dot on the map. And, the idea of course is to TRY and count them ALL—so don't keep a couple out for pets when you send your total in. Only one answer can be accepted from each family and the judges' decision will be final. And you can be sure that your answer will receive full and careful consideration when the entries are judged and the prizes awarded for accuracy, originality and neatness, and remember that as the winner, you will receive $50.00 cash and an EXTRA $25.00 if you answer promptly. Duplicate prizes will be paid in case of ties. So, hurry! Rush your answer now. BE THE BIG WINNER.

'S'S' WORRY NAVY

MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD, Cal.—(U.P.)—The navy doesn't like to have the names of its ships cluttered up with too many S's. As a consequence, when the new United States submarine "Swordfish" is launched here, one of the "S's" in its name, U. S. S. Swordfish," will be eliminated. Just at present, it is not known just what "S" will be deleted.

TONS OF RELICS

Fossils Shipped From Alaska To American Museum.

FAIRBANKS, Alaska — (INS) —Constituting the largest lot of pre-historic relics ever sent from the interior of Alaska, eight tons of Pleistocene fossils were shipped from the University of Alaska to the American Museum of Natural History recently. The 8,008 specimens of the shipment included rare fossils of the mastodon, musk ox, saber tooth tiger and camel.

Ninety-seven Guernsey heifers were shipped early in 1939 from South Carolina to stock plantations in the Bahama islands.

Wyoming Posses Press Hunt for 'Wildman' Killer of 4

2 SLAIN WHILE SEARCHING IN HILL COUNTRY

Sharp Shooting Slayer Tells Man-Hunters to Hang His Head on Courthouse.

(By United Press)

POWELL, Wyo. — Man-hunters swarmed into the Beartooth high country at dawn today to retrieve the bodies of two of their companions and to track down Earl Durand, 26, who has killed four men since he escaped from jail a week ago.

In a brief battle last night, Durand added the two latest victims to his list of murders and drove the rest of the posse to cover. Then he slunk back into the mountains, where he subsists on raw meat. He left a note to his pursuers defying them to catch him and suggesting that if they do so, they mount his head and hang it from the Park county court house.

All night, the bodies of O. H. Linabary and Arthur Argento lay in the snow where they fell. Sheroff's deputies kept their men under cover until dawn, refusing to expose them to Durand's deadly fire.

Killed Deputy, Marshal.

Every man in the possee, which set out from Powell a week ago when Durand killed a sheriff deputy and a town marshal while escaping jail, believed they were confronted by a mad man.

He was heavily armed and had several hundred rounds of rifle ammunition. It was known that he had two long-range hunting guns, one with which he shot and killed Undersheriff D. W. Baker and Town Marshal Charles Lewis last Friday during his jail break, the other seized from a ranchman while in flight.

Yesterday Durand apparently sensed that the posse was closing in on him. He forced his way into the cabin of Art Thurnburg, roused him and his wife and forced them to drive him into the almost impenetrable area near the headwaters of Little Rock creek, high in the mountains. Then he released them and Thornburg hastened to a ranch and telephoned the alarm here.

Cleveland Passes Relief Levy, Bond Issue For Schools

CLEVELAND —(INS)— A solid majority of more than 30,000 votes today crowned the efforts of Mayor Harold H. Burton's administration to obtain a 7.416-mill tax rate for one year in Cleveland.

The levy vote, which was in reality a vote to change the city charter to permit a levy of that size, was 87,630 for and 57,218 against. In spite of fine weather, the vote was light, and the board of elections characterized the day as one of the dullest election days in years.

In another vote, taken in slightly more precincts than the 755 in Cleveland proper, a school board bond issue of $2,500,000 for the city's share of a $4,545,454 PWA building program won 95,634 to 48,638, or by 66.3 per cent. A 55 per cent vote was required.

The city levy was for relief and operating funds. Of the total amount raised, 1.7 mills, or $2,100,000 will be used for relief and the rest will be added to the general fund.

Before the levy can be made effective, it must be enacted by city council.

ILL 9 WEEKS, DIES

GALION—Miss Redilla B. Dolph, 53, a native of Urbana, died here early today at the home of an aunt, Mrs. John Bittner, following an illness of nine weeks.

Miss Dolph was formerly employed with the New York Central railroad as an accountant at Cleveland and Detroit. She was a member of the First Methodist church.

She is survived by a brother, Samuel Dolph of California. Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Saturday at the Bittner home with Rev. W. N. Robertson, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in the Medina cemetery.

Threatens Revolt Over Marx 'Ripper Bill'

Up and Down THE STREET

Congratulating himself on his luck, C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of county commissioners, was recovering today from injuries received in an accident that might have been a lot worse. Mitchell fell 12 feet from a ladder at his farm near Mansfield two days ago, spraining his left hand and bruising his arm and chest. The ladder skidded from under him, throwing him across it as it struck the ground. He was on the job as usual, but he moved cautiously.

A solemn first grade pupil who was used as a "test subject" last night at a meeting of elementary teachers at Senior high school enacted his part so well that he got both praise and laughter from the group. Making a perfect grade in a vision test conducted by a state nurse, the boy was highly praised by the nurse and teachers. Then he upset the applecart. "I guessed 'em all," he commented soberly as he went back to his seat. He referred to the symbols on the sight chart.

The Westinghouse Glee club took a leaf from New York theatrical producers who try out their new show in some nearby city before springing it on the home folks, when they presented their production at Fredericktown last night. They played to a capacity audience at the high school there and made so favorable an impression that they have been invited back to open the new school auditorium next November. The Glee club presents its minstrel and vaudeville show for the first time in Mansfield at Senior high auditorium at 8:15 p. m. today under the auspices of the students and faculty of the school.

There is a possibility that Clair Bee, a former Mansfielder who "made good in the big city," will make his first visit to the old home town in many years next week. J. Russell Murphy's former assistant at Mansfield high school, now rated as the outstanding basketball coach in collegiate circles, will speak at a sports round-up dinner in Akron Saturday, April 1, and he has indicated that he may drop over to Mansfield for a brief visit. Bee is said to be in line for a big Pacific coast coaching job. He guided his Long Island university team through an undefeated season, winning 24 straight and the eastern collegiate title.

ESCAPE SLASH

Richland Pension Office Not Affected by Reduction.

M. W. Conley, manager of Richland county's aid for aged office, and his staff of workers escaped the Republican administration's economy ax again today when 11 pension district representatives were dismissed and the districts were reduced from 16 to eight in number.

The dismissal order did not affect any employes in this section. The consolidation of districts, however, boosted the number of counties in the sixth district from 6 to 11, including Richland county.

R. O. Welbaum of Sandusky, who has been with the pension division, was named district supervisor. No headquarters has been established.

Tom McCaw, chief of the state division of aid for the aged, said the action would save $21,400 a year and predicted that reorganization of district offices would simplyfy administration procedure.

In district No. 6 with Richland county are Licking, Knox, Ashland, Wayne, Holmes, Coshocton, Muskingum, Morgan, Perry and Fairfield counties.

NAME CONTEST WINNERS FRIDAY

Retail Merchants Check Entries In Window Title Event.

Winners in the window title contest which was held last week in connection with Spring Display days, will be announced tomorrow, V. H. Lodde, secretary of the Retail Merchants association, said today.

The contest was to name the titles for the 43 display windows taking part in the Display event from the displays themselves.

It is expected that a number of contestants will have the title correct and from this group the final decisions will be made on the cleverest title for the display in Scattergood window which was the only one that was not given a title.

Cash awards of $80 will be given.

PARKS SET UP FUND PROGRAM

Association to Sponsor Two Entertainments to Finance July 4th Celebration.

The Mansfield Public Parks association has drafted a program to raise funds to finance the Fourth of July community celebration, Roy Vaughn, president, announced today.

Two public entertainments are being planned, one a stage play and the other yet to be decided. The association will sponsor the appearance at Senior High school auditorium April 17 of the highly publicized WPA theater project, "Prologue to Glory."

The show has played in Chicago, New York and a number of other large cities and won the praise of critics, not only for the manner in which it depicts the early years of Lincoln's life but for the excellent manner in which it is presented.

"Prologue to Glory" shows a rough-hewn Lincoln and his start on the road that led to glory, starting with his first job of storeclerking in New Salem, Ill., his meeting with Ann Rutledge, her urging him on to scale the heights, and his first campaign for the state legislature.

There will be two showings of the drama on the 17th; a matinee for school students at 3 p. m. and an evening performance at 8:15. Afternoon tickets will be 15 and 25 cents and evening prices will range from 25 cents to $1. Every seat will be reserved for the evening performance. Tickets will be sold in advance but must be reserved before the date of the show. The reservation seat board will open at the Tawse pharmacy Friday morning, April 14.

HUNT '70 KNOWN VCTIMS' OF MURDER-FOR-INSURANCE SCHEME

(By Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA — A death sentence verdict for a spaghetti salesman convicted of murder for insurance sent investigators on a cemetery search today for "70 known victims" of a poison plot which authorities say was conceived at least 10 years ago.

Immediately after Herman Petrillo was found guilty last night of killing a WPA laborer with poison, detectives delved anew into trial evidence and promised wholesale exhumations and arrests.

The chief investigator, Detective Samuel S. Riccardi, announced he had information covering deaths ten years back and would "start swearing out affidativs and exhuming bodies" today.

"There are 70 known victims of the poison ring so far," he said. "We will exhume 70 bodies and issue 70 warrants. The boys are all ready with the picks and shovels."

Petrillo, describes by Ricardi as a "ringleader," was convicted only of the murder of Ferdinand Alfonsi, 38. He was the first to go on trial of five persons accused of participation in a conspiracy to poison persons in Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey. The finding of the jury of five men and seven women carries a mandatory sentence of death in the electric chair.

Commenting on the verdict, Judge Harry S. McDevitt said "the evidence produced here was only the scratching of the surface."

The judge snapped at court officers guarding Petrillo:

"Take him away."

As the bald, stolid defendant was led past the jury box, he cursed the jurors and struck at the foreman, Mrs. Margaret Skeen.

ILLNESS FATAL

Mrs. Anna Frasz, Mother of Five, Dies at Age 47.

Mrs. Anna E. Frasz, 47, of 338 West Sixth street, wife of Joseph P. Frasz, died in the General hospital Wednesday after a brief illness.

A resident of Mansfield 36 years, Mrs. Frasz was born in Austria-Hungary, Feb. 29, 1892. She was a member of the St. Peter's Catholic church and C. L. of C.

The survivors include her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Marvin Gabler of Mansfield and Eleanor at home; three sons, William, Albert and Robert of Mansfield; her father, Mathias Menrath of Mansfield; two sisters, Mrs. Nicholas Huck of Mansfield and Mrs. Joseph Tagshearer of Foley, Ala., and a brother, Joseph Menrath of Mansfield.

Funeral services will be held at the St. Peter's Catholic church at 9:30 a. m. Monday with Msgr. R. C. Goebel officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield Catholic cemetery. The body will remain at the Geiger funeral home until the time of services.

G. O. P. SOLON FORMS BLOC TO FIGHT PASSAGE

Rallies Forces to Join Dems in Movement to Oppose General's Ouster.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Harmonious relations of the Bricker administration and the Ohio legislature were subjected to a strain today as the adjutant general ripper bill came up for a vote in the house.

Rep. Ralph Siferd, bolting the huge Republican majority which consistently has adhered to Gov. John W. Bricker's wishes, said he would organize opposition on the floor to the measure to oust Adjt. Gen. Emil F. Marx, the assistant adjutant general and assistant quartermaster general and abolish their so-called "life tenure."

The Auglaize county Republican fought the bill in the military affairs committee of which he is a member.

The Democratic minority went into a huddle and it was reported they would attempt to block passage of the measure.

Gives Bricker Power.

The proposed legislation would allow Governor Bricker to appoint an adjutant general and military staff of his own choosing. General Marx is a Democratic appointee of former Gov. Martin L. Davey.

While the adjutant general's office said the "life tenure" was established upon recommendation of the war department by the legislature two years ago, Governor Bricker quoted a high-ranking army officer as saying the department took no position on the matter.

Meanwhile, another bill which would give the Bricker administration control of the civil service commission was recommended for passage by the house committee on organization of state government.

It would add a third member to the commission increase the terms from four years to six, and make the secretary executive officer of the commission with his salary increased from $3,600 a year to $6,000.

The bill is a substitute for original Republican proposals to abolish the present commission and allow the governor to appoint a new three-member body.

In the senate leaders brought up for vote a bill to create a state commission for publicizing and developing Ohio's industrial advantages, natural resources and recreational facilities.

Yesterday the senate passed a bill to set up a state committee which would make a survey and recommend legislation for establishment of a state park system. The measure goes to the house.

WIDOW DIES

Mrs. Jennie McNary Had Lived in City 60 Years.

Mrs. Jennie Aults McNary, widow of A. W. McNary, died at her home, 22 Boughton avenue, today, after a lingering illness.

Mrs. McNary was born in McConnellsville, Pa., and was the last member of a family of 10 children. She had been a resident of Mansfield 60 years.

She was a charter member and past councellor of the Daughters of America, a member of the Ruth Chapter, Eastern Star; Companion Sewing circle, Mothers Home circle and United Presbyterian church.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. B. H. Gardner of Columbus, and Mrs. A. L. Blakely of Mansfield, and four grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

The body was removed to the Finefrock funeral home where services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Monday with Rev. Henry Ford of the United Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. M. A. Eakin of Mansfield, officiating. The body will be placed in the mausoleum in the Mansfield cemetery.

THREE HURT AS CAR ROLLS OVER

Ashland County Youths Injured In Park Accident.

ASHLAND—Three Ashland county youths were injured when the car in which they were riding turned over at 9:10 p. m., Wednesday in Brookside park here.

Injured were Ralph Rogers, 18, R. D. 1, Polk, Bernard Hamilton, 18, of Ashland, and Owen Newell, 18, of R. D. 2, Ashland. Rogers, driver of the car, according to Ashland police, is confined to Samaritan hospital with a possible fracture at the base of the skull. His condition was reported as "fair."

Hamilton suffered severe leg bruises, and Newell suffered lacerations about the hands. According to police, the car overturned when Rogers failed to make a short curve in the park.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Russia Ought Not to Be Allowed to Get By With That 'Democracy' Claim

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Politics and military necessity may compel France and Britain to fight on Russia's side, and this country to help them, first with supplies and later, perhaps, with soldiers and naval power.

But, whatever happens, the Russians and their American agents and sympathizers should not be permitted to get away with the current loud pretense that Russia is a democracy, or any less hateful to this country than Nazi Germany.

The only difference, as far as the United States is concerned, is that Germany and Italy are bulging with muscle just now and, therefore, are out marauding, whereas Russia, having more territory than she can efficiently use or well police, and being pretty well shot by internal conspiracies and dumb incompetence can point to a recent record of half-decent outward behavior toward the neighbors.

Hitler, and with him, Mussolini, have put themselves on the urgent list and will have to be attended to first, but Russia's record, as of the time when there was no German menace, was no more friendly than Nazi-Fascism to the American form of government or the peace and security of this nation.

* * *

It might be remembered, also, that the Czechoslovak democracy, which Americans mourn with pure motives, and the same starry-eyed idealism that drew the United States into the World war, stood between the two kinds of bolshevism, red and brown, and wanted no more of the one than of the other.

* * *

Russia liked the little republic only as a line of defense against Germany, and forebore to destroy it by poison only because Czechoslovakia served to keep Hitler at a distance. Czechoslovakia was not a bolshevik nation, red or brown, and Russia's democratic feeling for her did not impel her to do anything rash.

* * *

There is still something very mysterious and suspicious about the Russian-German equation, for they are almost identical in their own qualities, in their common enmity toward this country's freedom and form of government, and their hatred of religion. National rivalry is their only point of conflict, and they easily could make a deal to exchange the things which Hitler wants for those which he is prepared to trade and Russia needs. And, as Demaree Bess recently pointed out in the Saturday Evening Post, while the democratic nations have been striving generously to find asylums for the victims of Hitler's savagery, Russia, with much spare room, and certainly with great need of the intelligence which the refugees have to offer, has extended no welcome to the outcasts.

* * *

Certainly those in this country who have condemned loyalist Spain as bolshevistic, with no discount or allowance, would find themselves decidedly uncomfortable in a lineup with Russia against Hitler, even though France and Britain were also on the team. They will exert a strong pull against that course.

In this situation, the American bolos will need close watching, and the propaganda for democracy must be examined for communistic taint.

* * *

They have lately adopted Abraham Lincoln and blown kisses at the American Constitution, but only as propaganda, and it will be found, on inspection, that they have merely set themselves certain limited objectives on the way to creation here of the same dictatorship that exists in Russia and Germany.

As silly and horrible as anything that any lunatic could imagine would be the spectacle of this democracy fighting economically or in the field to protect the Russian dictatorship from the German dictatorship, and preserve the Russian oppressor of the Ukraine against the challenge of a rival with identical motives, methods and ideas.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The name of the picture is "Boy Slaves" and this is the story behind it.

It's an "old" picture as movies go. That is, it was first previewed, very inconspicuously, about two months ago, RKO, which made it, wasn't quite certain what to do about it. It was considered strong meat for the movies.

The preview reaction—such as it was—was weird. People either raved about it, or damned it. We who trot around from "big" preview to "colossal" preview, naturally, didn't see it. We were probably engaged in casting eyes and rocks at the current boy-meets-girler that evening, and after that—well, there isn't much time to catch up on the "littlies." So I guess it was Mrs. Roosevelt, and her comments, that made "Boy Slaves" a must.

Like "A Man to Remember," this is a "little" picture. It cost about $170,000 to the other film's $119,000, and it had even fewer "names" in its cast.

* * *

It treats of life as it is alleged (by the film) to exist in turpentine camps somewhere in the south. It shows a gang of hoodlums turned over to a "kindly" turpentine boss by careless authorities. It shows the youngsters as prisoners, chained by easy credit at the "company store" as effectively as by barbwire fences and guards.

It is going to make a lot of people mad. And it should make people mad if it is all as true as P. J. Wolfson, its director, insists it is. The picture, therefore, is not pleasant, but belongs to the "can-such-things-be" school of the cinema. It has savage brilliance and uncompromising realism.

Young Wolfson ("Pinkie" to his friends) is a writer making his bow here as a director. He hit on this subject for his first vehicle two years before he could persuade a studio to let him make it.

As a veteran of the boy-meets-girl type of script ("Vivacious Lady" is excellently typical) he decided that pictures were too largely devoted to this theme.

* * *

While employed in a New York drugstore, Pinkie had written three novels before submitting one to a publisher. His first sold—then his second and third. He had never had a rejection slip.

At any rate, he put on crusader's armor and assembled his cast. The boy, James McCallion (the hoodlum leader in the film) he took from a Broadway stage failure. Roger Daniel, who had been a stand-in, he cast as the film's good boy. He got Anne Shirley easily enough—which is a condition that will change as soon as producers wake up to the fact that she's one of our finest young actresses.

The story of "Boy Slaves," he says, is based on child labor documents, on incidents gathered at various locales, concentrated for dramatic purposes into one setting. It is presented frankly, he says, in the hope that it will "do some good."

"And not, I hope, to start a cycle," he says. "I don't believe in movie cycles."

His next film will be "The First Rebel," a study of one John Smith who led a colonial rebellion against the British in Pennsylvania years before the real revolution.

SON OF ASHLAND PIONEERS DIES

PAPER ON VOCALIST GIVEN BEFORE CLUB

Mrs. John Bissman Presents Program at Home of Mrs. Charles Kuntz Last Night; Group Plans Charity Work.

MRS. CHARLES KUNTZ opened her Glessner avenue home last night to members of the Student club when she and Mrs. M. L. Smith entertained 17 women. Preceding the program on Marian Anderson which was given by Mrs. John Bissman, a business meeting was conducted.

The president, Mrs. J. B. Simons, appointed Mrs. Gordon Colby to represent the organization at the Town Hall meeting tonight at the American Legion home, and Mrs. Kuntz presented a report on the progress of the work on the proposed dental clinic for indigent children.

Following the report the group agreed to support the clinic plan, and to contribute their funds for charity to the plan. Mrs. Bissman's paper was a biographical sketch of the life of Miss Anderson.

Refreshments were served buffet style from a table centered with blue lighted tapers and an Easter motif carried out with an arrangement of eggs. The house was decorated with spring flowers.

The next regular meeting of the organization will be April 5 at the home of Mrs. Frederick Forkner. Mrs. Forkner, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Colby and Mrs. Kuntz will have a round table discussion on personality.

MARK ANNIVERSARY

About 18 friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Kopp Saturday evening to celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary. Card games, Chinese checkers and many contests were enjoyed, but the fun came when Mr. and Mrs Lloyd Kopp marched down the stairway, dressed in the original wedding costumes of the honored couple, and were presented to the crowd as Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Kopp of 40 years ago.

Both costumes were well preserved considering their 40 years' of seclusion in an old chest. The huge birthday cake was presented by Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Findley of Sidney. The ice cream was white with pink hearts. Mr. and Mrs. Kopp received many gifts.

WINS FIRST PLACE

In the semi-final of the literary contest held at Big Prairie school auditorium Friday night, Lakeville school won first place, over Big Prairie and Nashville. The grand finals of Holmes county will be held at Holmesville next Friday night. All schools winning in the semi-finals, will compete in this contest.

MISS CLINGAN FETED BY MRS. F. C. STROME

Pre-Nuptial Event Given by Bride-Elect's Aunt; Couple Will Wed April 1 at Women's Club In Quiet Ceremony.

MISS DOROTHY CLINGAN was honored with another pre-nuptial party yesterday evening, when her aunt, Mrs. F. C. Strome, entertained at her home on Stewart avenue. The affair was a miscellaneous shower.

Bridge was in play at three tables during the evening, and high score prizes were awarded to Mrs. Frank Winters, the Misses Vivian Miller and Dorothy Crawford. The guests presented the honoree with a shower of gifts, and Mrs. Strome also gave her a gift. Refreshments were served at the small tables later in the evening.

Miss Clingan will become the bride of Norman E Leonard of Lexington at 3:30 p. m. on April 1 at the Women's Club with Rev. Peter Young, pastor of the First Congregational church, officiating.

Preceding the early April wedding several of Miss Clingan's friends have planned pre-nuptial showers and parties in her honor.

Miss King's Home Scene of Session

Spring flowers decorated the tea table over which Miss Katharine Hartman presided last night when members of the Philomathian club met at the home of Miss Martha King, 117 West Second street, for a regular meeting and program. Guests of the group were the Misses Doris Goodenough, Katherine Rhoads and Mrs. Thornton Lake and Mrs. B. B. Drummond.

Mrs. Fred Hout read the paper entitled "Economic Aspects of the Tennessee Valley Authority." A routine business meeting was conducted.

The next regular meeting will be April 5 at the home of Mrs. W. R. Cutter, 729 Highland avenue. Mrs. Donald Black will give a travel talk at that time on the West Indies.

Name Women To Attend Meeting At Legion Tonight

Mrs. Helen Griffith, Mrs. Janet Hamilton and Mrs. Mabel Ricker have been appointed to represent the Women of the Moose at the Town Hall meeting tonight in the American Legion home. These delegates were named last evening when members of that organization met at the Moose home.

During the business session, it was reported that the library committee had given scrap books to Mansfield General hospital, the social service committee had donated six comforts to underprivileged families, and the Moosehaven committee had sent cards to residents of the Moosehaven home in Moosehaven, Fla.

Mrs. Clara Johns was in charge of the evening's program, when a first aid demonstration was given by members of the Red Cross and a first aid motion picture was shown to the group. Mrs. Stella Beal presented five tablecloths to the lodge.

The auditing committee of the lodge will meet on April 3, while the next regular meeting of the organization will be held on April 5.

Social Meeting Held By Jolly Dozen Club

Mrs. Louis Hamaker entertained members of the Jolly Dozen Euchre club last evening at her home on Helen avenue. Prizes for the games were won by Mrs. Lee Bartlett, Mrs. Floyd Canny, and Mrs. Thomas Williams. Mrs. Georgianna Walters was the recipient of the traveling prize.

Mrs. Hamaker served refreshments at the small table later in the evening. The group is planning to have the final social function of the club year next Thursday evening with a dinner party at Apple Lane Inn on the Ashland road. Mrs. Fred Schnitzer is in charge of arrangements for that affair.

Should She Accept Gift?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

When I celebrated my birthday two weeks ago, my boy friend sent me a bathrobe and I'd like you to tell me if it is proper for me to accept it. We've been going together for five months, and we both love each other.

He said he decided to give me the bathrobe because I seem to have the usual trinkets a young girl has.

EDITH.

If you're on the brink of becoming engaged to this young man, it will be all right for you to accept the bathrobes. It would, of course, be an unconventional gift if you were just casual acquantances.

* * *

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

For the past year I've been going "steady" with a certain girl, one year my junior. I'm 20 years old. All of a sudden she started going to dances with other boys, telling me she wants to enjoy her youth while she has it. Can it be that she's growing tired of me?

I've been taking another girl out, since my true love started going with other boys, and now I'm beginning to wonder if this isn't a good idea. Would you advise me to forget the first girl, and try to get up a case with this second girl, who seems to think a lot of me? And I confess I think she's swell.

TERENCE.

It looks to me as if your true love has about decided to give you up in favor of someone else. You can be thankful that there was another girl near at hand, who appeals to you, and who treats you better.

At your age you're sure to have many girl friends, and it's better to go out with them all, before you settle down for life with the one and only.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I tried to keep back my gasp of astonishment at Queen Olga's reference to her recognition of Philip Veritzen's identity, but I did not succeed. It was distinctly auditble in the quiet room, and the smile she gave me was one of mischievous amusement.

"Have I surprised you?" she said. "Then think of what Philip's surprise will be when I sometime—a long way off—tell him that I have recognized him."

"Then you know—" I said unguardedly, and could have "bitten my tongue off," in the old extravagant parlance, at the confidence I had unwittingly betrayed.

"Philip must have been confiding in you," she said.

"He couldn't have chosen a better confidante," she said. "I am glad he told you that many years ago in Transvania he and I were youthful sweethearts, pledged to each other for life, but separated by fate in the form of his uncle, the king."

"But he didn't tell me all that," I protested. "He mentioned no word of your feeling toward him. He told me of his birth, his childhood and his young manhood, of his great—adoration of you and of his banishment. But of your part in the story he spoke not at all."

"That is like him, poor Philip!" she said "It is so long ago," she said with a note of rueful apology in her voice, "that I think you will pardon the gaucherie of my telling you how madly in love with Philip I was in the old days. He was my first love, my girlish romance, and I don't think one ever forgets one's first romance, do you?"

I nodded, not willing to pursue that subject further, for memories of Jack Bickett were rising before me, and even if I had not cared for him, the remembrance of his early adoration for me still had power to thrill me.

"Philip probably told you of my marriage," she went on, and again I nodded. "But he had no means of knowing what my life was from that day on."

I suppressed a quiet smile of amusement when I thought of the close espionage Philip Veritzen had kept on the woman he loved. If there were anything he did not know of her life, it was not the fault of his care or of his purse.

"Rudolph and I cared nothing for each other when we married," the low, beautiful voice went on. "But we agreed to make the best of a bad situation. Then, too, we loved our children dearly, and they drew us together. Gradually the image of my first lover faded into a sweet memory and I never expected to see him again.

"You may judge then, what I felt when, at the big reception given to Rudolph and myself in New York while we were on our tour of America, I was introduced to a prominent member of the reception committee, Philip Veritzen, and almost immediately recognized him as the Philip Schaumbein of my youth.

"The rigid training of royalty is sometimes a blessing," she went on, "however often we secretly rebel against it. It enabled me to keep my face and eyes and voice perfectly calm, and I do not think anybody dreamed that I ever before had met the distinguished-looking man with the vandyke beard and military moustache.

"Rudolph never knew that his cousin, the companion of his youth, had welcomed him to New York that day. I was glad that he died several years later without knowning. We had gone a long way since that old time, and there was no use raking up dead memories."

I wondered if unwittingly she were letting me read between the lines of that old story. I would have wagered much that Rudolph, later in life, his youthful infatuation for his actress friend vanished, had fallen deeply, sincerely in love with his beautiful queen, and that the recognition of the ghost from their past would have deeply upset him.

But there was something else upon which I would have wagered deeply, that Queen Olga, though proving herself a model queen, wife and mother, never had ceased to love the young officer, Philip Schaumbein, and that when she met him as Philip Veritzen, her old feeling for him had been revived.

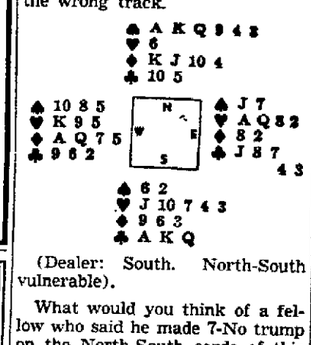
"The Authority on Authorities"

PITY YOUR POOR ENEMY

IT IS SAD to see the plight of the poor defenders as they grope around in the dark sometimes trying to figure out just what to do. With no guide to your holding, they are doing their best to guess. Or perhaps it is worse still. Your bidding may have given them a complete misunderstanding of what you hold and what you intend to do. They try to protect themselves against the cards they think you possess, only to find that you have thrown them onto the wrong track.



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable).

What would you think of a fellow who said he made 7-No trump on the North-South cards of this deal? Don't say it until you find out how he did it.

North bid 1-Spade, South 2-Hearts, North 3-Spades and South 3-No trump. West led the diamond 5, the dummy's 10 winning. The club Q was used as an entry to lead the diamond 9. West ducked, envisioning a possible brace of tricks later if South had no more diamonds. Next came six spade tricks, followed by the club K and club A.

All this time West had been trying to discard the best he could. He had been trying to keep his guarded heart K, to protect against the A-Q which he felt South's bid had shown. He also still had the diamond A, and had to throw one of those three cards on the club A. Deciding to hold his two hearts, he threw the diamond A, and declarer got the last two tricks with the dummy's diamonds.

Far be it from anyone to defend West's play as the best possible, but you have to feel sort of sorry for him just the same.

Try Smelt For Variety In Meals

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

THERE'S romance, color and interest connected with almost every one of nature's foods. Take the smelt. The humble, silvery, swell-tasting smelt is the hero of what has become to be known as the "Mardi Gras of the North." Escanaba, in northern Michigan, is the setting for the amboree that is generally held early in April, when the fish migrate from the deep waters of Green Bay to the shores in search of streams in which to spawn.

Grand Dish.

If you have never considered smelt for your market list, these recipes will help you enjoy a new and inexpensive gastronomic treat.

Smelt a la Benedictine is quite a grand dish, nice enough for any meal. One pound smelt, four medium-sized sweet potatoes, juice of a lemon, one cup cream or top milk, bread crumbs, salt, pepper and butter are required. Boil fish until bones and skin may be removed, mash fine, add tablespoon of butter, juice of one-half lemon. Cook, drain and mash the sweet potatoes, add a pinch of pepper, two tablespoons butter, juice of one-half lemon, salt to taste, then add cream or milk. Mix with the prepared fish. This makes a rough dough; if too stiff, add a little milk. Grease a baking dish. Put in the dough, cover with bread crumbs and melted butter. Dot here and there with lumps of butter. Bake 20 minutes in hot oven. Serve in dish.

Chowder Variation.

Smelt Chowder offers a swell variation on the good old chowder theme! Soak fish several hours or overnight in salt water. Rinse. This is done to remove the "fresh cucumber" odor. Clean three pounds of smelt. Place in pan. Pour on a cup of hot water. Place in oven 15 minutes. Then separate fish from bones. Peel and slice six medium-sized potatoes, one-half an onion. Cook in six cups of water. When the potatoes are tender, add two teaspoons butter, the fish, four cups milk, salt to taste and a tiny pinch of sugar. Pepper as desired. Bring to boiling point. Serve hot.

Baker Smelt is a delicious baked fish dish. Clean and stand fish in salt bath overnight. Rinse. Pour boiling water over smelt and let stand five minutes. Layer the fish in a dripping pan. Place a thin slice of bacon over each fish if they are large (big ones run about 6 to 10 to a pound). If small, cover generously with bacon. Sprinkle with pepper, and a few dots of butter. And one inch of water. If you have beef stock add half beef stock. Bake until very little moisture remains and fish are done. Serve with catsup.

Now's the time to store winter clothes and bedding. Clean and air them thoroughly in the sun. Next pack them securely in newspapers. Then place them in boxes that are covered tightly. Label each box carefully and store those that may be needed in convenient places. Blankets, especially, are often necessary during cool spells.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, March 24.

A day of unexpected events and surprising developments is read from the lunar as well as mutual configurations. There may be whirlwind upheavals or disturbances that may be devastating and disruptive. But these may be tempered by prudence, coolness, and eye to trickery and sound decisions when sudden change confronts. With this there may be quite unexpected benefits, in which windfalls seem to emanate from nowhere.

Those whose birthday it is may "expect the unexpected" this year, with the descent of the unforeseen coming with whirlwind force from unsuspected sources. And while the precipitation may seem disruptive and disintegrating, it may carry a thrilling stroke of very good fortune, such as a bequest or some other unpredictable surprise.

A child born on this day may be clever, progressive, ingenious and industrious. It may have surprising and unusual adventures or romantic experiences in both its business and its private affairs.

In the years immediately preceding the war and the years following, it is estimated the farm mortgage debt in the United States was increased $450,000,000,-000.
